Assault Case in Which Women Were Principals

A long drawn out assault and battery case interspersed with epic testimony was heard before Judge Pickman in police court this morning. Marie Louise Masse, an attractive young woman, was the complainant while James LePage and his wife were the defendants. J. Joseph Hennessey appeared for the government.

The Masse woman testified that on July 5 while she was passing through Worthen street Mrs. LePage called her vile names and subsequently struck her in the face and broke her glasses. Then Mr. LePage went to the assistance of his wife and struck the complainant. Several witnesses corroborated the testimony offered by the complainant.

Mrs. LePage acknowledged that she grappled with the complainant, but said that the latter was to blame because she called her vile names. LePage denied having anything to do with the assault.

The defendants were found guilty. LePage being fined $4, while his wife was ordered to pay a fine of $6.

Family Troubles

John W. Howard was before the court this morning charged with threatening his wife, Mrs. Howard during the course of her testimony said that her husband came home Saturday night and threatened to kill her. He then went out and locked the doors and windows and when he returned later in the night she refused to allow him to enter.

Howard denied that he used any threatening language and said that he would not do his wife any harm. Judge Pickman thought that there should be a reconciliation and continued the case for three weeks, hoping that in the meantime Mr. and Mrs. Howard would come to a mutual agreement which would result in no further trouble between them.

Broke Into a Store

Wm. J. Lawton, aged 17 years and a juvenile, broke into the store of George Lynch in Marion street and stole a quantity of small goods and $4 in money. Lawton was arraigned in court this morning, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and larceny, and was held under $100 bonds for trial Friday morning.

Agreed to Marry

John Smith and Edward Denver were before the court, having been arrested on paternity warrants. Smith was also charged with two complaints of drunkenness and assault and battery. Both made arrangements to get married this afternoon.

Drunken Offenders

Thomas A. Armour and William Monahan were sentenced to the state farm. Michael Sullivan will spend the next six months in jail, and Eddie Ash will go to jail for six months. Thomas Kelly was fined $6 and two first offenders were fined $3 each.

Keeping Liquor

Peter Garo pleaded guilty to illegally keeping liquor and was fined $50.

The funeral took place from the home of Mrs. John Magee, 255 Lawrence street, at 2 o'clock and was attended by a large number of relatives and friends. The choir sang the Gregorian mass. At the offertory Mr. P. P. Haggerty sang "O Salutaris" and after the elevation "Pie Jesu" was rendered by Mr. James E. Donnelly. As the body was being lowered from the altar, Mrs. Josephine McKennedy presided at the organ and the choir was under the direction of Mr. P. P. Haggerty.

There was a profusion of beautiful and appropriate floral offerings, showing the esteem in which the deceased was held by her many friends and acquaintances, and among them were the following: Large pillow of roses, pinkish leaves, sweet peas and ferns with the inscription "At Rest" from the Magee family; standing crosses and anchor on base of roses, pinkish leaves and ferns inscribed "Maggie" from the Atlas and Warner club; center of roses and

THOS. P. BOULGER

Member of Police Board Till Successor Has Qualified

Acting under advice of counsel, Thomas P. Boulger called at the office of the board of police and declared himself a member of the board. Previous to his arrival there, Chairman Simon B. Harris received the following letter:

Lowell, Mass., July 13, 1909.

To Simon B. Harris, Chairman and Secretary of the Board of Police of the City of Lowell.

As a member of the Board of Police I hereby notify you that you must take no action in any matters coming within the jurisdiction and powers of the Board of Police of the City of Lowell, and hold no meetings or conferences of the board without previously giving me notice thereof and allowing me sufficient time to attend. I am still a member of said board, and as at present advised shall not surrender my rights nor cease to perform my duties as such member.

Very truly yours,

Thomas P. Boulger,

Member of the Board of Police of the City of Lowell.

The statutes under which the board exists and from which it derives its powers provide that "members of said board shall hold their offices until their respective successors are appointed and qualified." After discharging the old board His Honor Mayor Brown, according to the communication to Hon. Charles S. Lilley, which appeared in this paper on Saturday, specifically named Mr. Lilley to be the successor of Mr. Thomas P. Boulger, and it would therefore, seem to follow that Mr. Boulger is entitled to hold his seat and to act until some successor is not only appointed, but qualified, and that means until he has actually taken the oath of office.

LIVELY INTERVIEW HELD

Chairman Harris told Mr. Boulger that he would refuse to recognize him as a member of the board, but that didn't faze Mr. Boulger. He insisted that he was still a member of the board and he intimated that he would be "Johnnie on the spot." He said he would attend the regular meeting of the board this evening.

After Mr. Boulger left the office of the police board, the chairman, Mr. Harris, went to the mayor's office and explained the condition of affairs to the chief magistrate. Later, in conversation with the city hall reporter for The Sun, the mayor said: "I have authorized Chairman Harris not to recognize Mr. Boulger. The mayor removed Mr. Boulger and the act was a legal one. The law supports the act."

"I asked the city solicitor for an opinion in the matter and he gave as his opinion that Mr. Boulger had been legally removed and had no claim to the office from which he had been removed. After receiving that opinion from the city solicitor I advised Chairman Harris not to recognize Mr. Boulger as a member of the police board."

"Was it a written or a verbal opinion that you had from the city solicitor?" queried the reporter.

"It doesn't make any difference, it was an opinion."

The reporter learned that it was a verbal and not a written opinion. The city solicitor maintains that Mr. Boulger was removed and having been removed cannot act as a hold-over.

"How about both parties, democrat and republican, being represented on the board?" asked the reporter.

"That's another question," said the city solicitor,

SUPERIOR COURT

Indications Point to Large Fall Civil Docket

Next Jury Session Does Not Open Until October—Several New Actions of Tort Brought by Local Parties

In the October term of the superior court several new actions of tort will be listed in which local parties are the interested ones. There is no regular session of the court during the warm weather and the September docket is always a large one.

A session of the superior court for jury waived and court cases opens on the third Monday of September, but the jury sessions open in Lowell and Cambridge on the first Monday of October.

J. Joseph O'Connor of this city, who vies with his namesake of Boston and Wakefield, in the number of tort cases listed at the different sessions, has sent notice of a suit in the case of Julia Hurley vs. Lowell Machine shop in the sum of $10,000 to recover damages for the death of her husband, John E. Hurley, who was recently terribly mangled and fatally injured by a machine hammer while in the employ of the defendant company.

Notice of suit was sent out by Mr. O'Connor also in the case of Thomas Mooney vs. Lawrence Manufacturing company in the sum of $3000 for injuries received as the result of the breaking of a board on a staging upon which he was walking while employed as a hod carrier by the defendant company, the plaintiff being permitted to the ground and badly injured.

Thomas P. McCarthy, one of the employees of the U. S. Cartridge company who was injured in the recent explosion, has retained Mr. O'Connor and notice of suit has been sent out, the ad damnum being $5000.

Mary E. Blanchard has brought suit against the Boston and Northern in the sum of $3000 for injuries received as the result of a collision in Westford street some time ago while she was a passenger on the car. Her husband, Alexander E. Blanchard sued for $2000 for loss of services, etc. J. Joseph O'Connor appears for the plaintiffs in this case.

Last session's docket was one of the largest in a long while and the increasing number of Lowell cases in the county courts will undoubtedly soon result in more frequent sessions in this city.

There are many cases on the October docket from Lowell that were entered some time ago so that with the new cases now being brought the list promises to be perhaps a record breaker.

SOLEMN REQUIEM

Ronan Today

One of the staunchest friends of the A. O. H. in this city was the late Rev. Fr. Ronan, of St. Peter's church, and as chaplain of the Ladies' Auxiliary of that organization he was a factor in its success in this city.

H. divisions and many of the congregation assembled at St. Peter's church to assist at a solemn high mass of requiem for the repose of the soul of the deceased priest, requested by the Ladies' auxiliary. The celebrant of the mass was Rev. W. J. Mullin, acting pastor, assisted by Rev. D. J. Heffernan, deacon, and Rev. John T. O'Brien, sub-deacon. The choir under the direction of Prof. Haggerty rendered the Gregorian chant and solos were given by James E. Donnelly and Prof. Haggerty. A month's mind mass will be sung later on.

BADLY SCAREDPassengers Thrown In-
to a Panic

NEW YORK, July 12.—One hundred and fifty passengers on the steamer Pomona, returning from Cuba Island at dusk last evening, had a bad scare down the bay when the vessel collided bow-on in the fog with a steamer anchored just outside the Narrows, believed to have been the German gun steamer Thobias, which sailed from this port yesterday morning for Havana.

The heavy plates of the Pomona were bent and a section of the port side torn off. The passengers were thrown into the water and the officers had a difficult time in quieting them. That an accident was not more serious was due to the fact that the Pomona was proceeding at half speed when the other steamer was at anchor. No one was injured.

TWICE DIVORCEDWOMAN DECIDES TO MARRY ONCE MORE

CHICAGO, July 12.—Society in this city is little disturbed by the announcement of the engagement of Mrs. Lillian Murray Hartman, the former wife of Charles H. Smith, the well-known book publisher. She was once a shining figure in Chicago society, and many a young man has been known to fall in love with her. She was the daughter of a boarding house keeper on Michigan avenue, and society looked upon her when it was learned that she was engaged to Herbert Smith. It was again when the engagement was broken, and the young woman married Smith's brother, that she was looked upon as a social outcast.

She was divorced from Smith in 1904 on the grounds of cruelty, and married Arthur Hartman, the famous violinist, in Berlin the following year. Her second marriage, however, did not prove any happier, and she obtained a divorce from Hartman a short time ago.

DOCTOR IS SUEDGirl Values Lost Love
at $25,000

BOSTON, July 12.—Gertrude A. Elsen, a young girl, has sued Dr. J. C. Sawyer, a prominent Boston physician, for $25,000, claiming that he had seduced her.

Dr. Sawyer, who is a prominent Back Bay physician, whose wife died last night, was unknown to Gertrude Elsen, named in the suit, until he had been in Boston for three days. The greatest secrecy is maintained at his two offices, 572 Tremont street and 18 Tremont street.

At his uptown office last night it was said that no one there knew where he had gone or when he would return to Boston.

Dr. Sawyer is maintained at the home of the girl in Dorchester, where the father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Elsen, and Florence, the girl's sister, stay close by the bedside of the 15-year-old Gertrude.

The family knew nothing of the engagement of the girl to the doctor. The first news came a few days ago, when the statement was made by Miss Elsen that she had decided to bring suit against Dr. Sawyer.

Beyond the fact that Gertrude Elsen was at one time in the employ of Dr. Sawyer and that the romance was a secret one, arising from association in office work, the family would say nothing. The girl has been ill since February.

PRINCIPAL CHURCH CONFERENCE

CAMBRIDGE, July 12.—The second meeting of the annual summer conference of the Episcopal church under the direction of the Seabury society of New York was begun today in St. John's chapel. Chairs for the study of the first epistle of St. John were started today.

THE ARCHBISHOPWelcomed Delegates to

BOSTON, July 12.—The formal opening of the Catholic Educational Association's sixth annual convention took place today when a gathering made up of presidents and professors of the Catholic colleges of the country, clergymen and fifty associated with educational work and a number of nuns and sisters attended mass at the cathedral of the Holy Cross.

After mass a welcoming address was delivered by Archbishop O'Connell, opening the day's proceedings. After this service the delegates adjourned to Boston college, where the business meeting was begun. The association consists of three distinct departments, the secondary, college and parochial schools, each of which is subdivided into sections.

LOS ANGELESHAS WATER SUPPLY FILTERED
THROUGH GOLD

RANDBURG, Cal., July 12.—The water supply of Los Angeles from the filtered snows of Owens valley country will wind through strata of gold. Part of the aqueduct is found to be heavy with auriferous veins, and in a number of cases pockets of gold have been taken away. Some parts of the construction works laborers actually lighted for because of the chance of striking a pocket. From one stretch of the excavation, less than 12 feet long, samples of high grade ore were taken which, in some instances, show assays of $500.

The aqueduct will literally cross a bed of placer gold and also go through lodes.

All sorts of stories are to be heard along the aqueduct regarding gold finds, one being as to the luck of Patrick McCallum, a Los Angeles laborer, who cleaned up $1200.

SEVERAL ALARMS

Fire Broke Out Three Times in Same Building

The sounding of three alarms from box 225 at the corner of Lewis and Little streets within a period of about an hour and a half last night gave people the impression that that section of the city was ablaze and hundreds of people from all parts of the city hastened to Suffolk street where on the occasion of the last alarm there was a very large fire in progress. Those who were looking for something spectacular, however, were disappointed. There was plenty of smoke but very little blaze.

To add to the confusion of the ringing of the three alarms from the same box a false alarm was pulled in from box 46.

The fire was in what is known as the old McGuirk house, fronting on Suffolk street near Broadway, while it extends back about 100 feet in McGuirk's yard. The property is now owned by A. C. Wheelock.

Owing to the peculiar construction of the building the fire was very hard to fight, the strong draughts pulling the flames between the partitions carrying the sparks and burning chaff all over the building.

There are three buildings, connected with each other. Each building is two and a half stories high, the one in which the fire started fronting on Suffolk street while the other two front in the alleyway.

Shortly after 7 o'clock neighbors in the vicinity saw sparks coming from the chimney and an alarm was pulled in from box 225. The department was soon on the scene and the fire was extinguished within a few minutes. It is evident that while the firemen were working about the chimney some of the bricks were loosened, though this was not learned at the time the firemen were there.

The firemen had been gone but a short time when it was noticed that sparks were making their way out through the woodwork of the house and another alarm was sent in. This time the firemen found that the sparks had worked out through a portion of the chimney where a couple of bricks had been used with good effect, the long hose nozzles being poked up and down and all around the chimney on floors of the house. The firemen waited until everything appeared to be cool, expecting the attic which would naturally be hot after a fire.

After it was thought that the fire had been extinguished the apparatus had been whirled through the space between the floors and walls, and it did not take the sparks long to smoulder into a good sized blaze.

Another alarm was sent in at this time when the firemen arrived they found the blaze breaking through the roof and the sides of the house. This time they decided not to leave the place until they had flooded the building with water and accordingly streams were put upon every point of the roof and on the blaze in the interior of the building. The long low-studded attic with but one window in it was like a raging furnace and the firemen who had to work in that place found it exhausting to stay there any length of time. The smoke was dense and the wind carried it far. Close to the building it was so thick that it was difficult to breathe and yet the crowd could hardly move.

To add to the trouble, just in the midst of the confusion box 46 at the corner of Bridge and First streets rang in for another fire, and this mixed the fire department up to a slight degree.

The loss will be about $3000. The building was occupied by five families, those of Morris Spillane, William Mary Monahan and a French family. The loss by water will be almost as great as the loss by fire.

A False Alarm
An alarm from box 46 at the corner of Bridge and First streets gave the department a run for nothing, for there was no fire. A man was walking along Bridge street when a boy rushed up to him and said that there was a big fire in First street. The man rushed to the box and sounded the alarm. When the department arrived there was no sign of a fire. The man who pulled in the alarm was told a straight forward story of how he happened to pull the box and now the police are looking for the youngster who told the fairy tale.

GIVEN SIX YEARS
Cahill Was Convicted of Hold-up
BOSTON, July 13.—Edward Cahill, who was charged with effecting one of the boldest robberies attempted in Boston, assaulting and robbing Alfred Sacco, a passenger on a Washington street car, in the early evening, opposite Clark's hotel, was sentenced to six years in state prison yesterday by Judge Harris of the superior criminal court.

Sacco was riding on a car June 25 and became engaged in an argument with Cahill and three other men. The evidence showed that the plan was pre-arranged. The argument developed into a fight in the car at a time when the street was crowded with people.

An officer, summoned by the conductor, arrived in time to capture Cahill but the other three men made their escape.

In all, Judge Harris disposed of nearly 30 cases yesterday, many of the defendants young men. In most instances they were sent to the reformatory or put on probation. All were without counsel.

One of the longest sentences was given to Joseph Biliastro, who was sent to state prison for seven years for attempted assault on a little girl in East Boston a few weeks ago.

Bernard Gately was sentenced to two years for assault and robbery of $5.00 from John T. Whitaker in a field off Norfolk avenue in Roxbury, June 12. David Alexander was held in $1000 bonds for perjury on two counts, for perjury in failing to explain that the estate was mortgaged which he offered as bail for women accused of night walking.

MAN SUFFOCATED
IN A FIRE THAT DESTROYED HIS HOME
GLOUCESTER, July 13.—Howard A. Parsons, aged 50 years, was suffocated in a fire which destroyed his home at 13 Russell avenue, here, late last night. His body was found in the kitchen by the firemen after the fire had gained considerable headway. The dead man was a father by trade and leaves a wife and children. The monetary loss by the fire was $3000.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS
Your townspeople recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read the statement of this Lowell citizen.

B. Delaney, living at 1540 Middlesex st., Lowell, Mass., says: "I do not hesitate one moment in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills as I have found them very beneficial. For some time I was troubled with a lameness in the small of my back. It was hard for me to get up after I had been sitting for some time and just as difficult for me to straighten after stooping. The several remedies I used gave me no relief and I was finally induced to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial, having heard so much about them. I procured them from Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store, and they gave me more relief than anything I had previously used. My back is now strong and the lameness has disappeared.

Rollier and Miss Mary Elizabeth Stewart, Miss Stewart is a resident of Pittsburg, and according to Mrs. Sutton, was her son's fiancée. Lieut. The government officials have been trying to summon her to the inquiry, but she is reported to be in Canada, and it is doubtful if her attendance can be obtained. Mrs. Sutton is now at West Point, where another of her sons, who is a cadet, is recovering from injuries believed to have been received at the hands of his brother.

Shortly after he instituted the suit against her she opened a dressmaking establishment and advertised for an assistant. Her husband hired a woman detective, who left the position and the letters. Another detective later tracked Mrs. Schmidt to a hotel, where she was found in company with a man.

Mrs. Schmidt was Miss Drummond before her marriage. She applied for work in the George Stiffel store, which Schmidt was partner, but he declared that she was too pretty. He work and asked her to marry him. That began the courtship.

Mrs. Schmidt has filed a counter petition, in which she charges her husband with brutality.

LOAN OF $2000
For a Park in Little Canada
A loan of $2000 for a park in Little Canada was recommended last night by the committee appointed to look into the matter. On the committee are: Chairman, Councillman Achin; Mayor Brown, Aldermen Wainwright and Cheney and Councillman Tracy.

The committee's action followed the reading of a report from the park commission as to the cost of the work. The report was as follows:

Lowell, Mass., July 12, 1909.
To His Honor, the Mayor, and the Members of the Special Committee on the Proposed Park or Play Ground on Allen Street:

Gentlemen—The commission has complied with your request made at a recent conference to learn upon what terms the filled lands, known as the "dump" in Little Canada could be obtained by the city as a tennis and playground and park purposes and the cost for adapting the same for use for such purposes, and respectfully report thereon as follows:

The strip of land west of Tucker street containing five acres may be obtained by the city as a tennis and playground and park purposes and the cost for adapting the same for use for such purposes, and respectfully report thereon as follows:

It is also a wonderful external remedy for rheumatism, neuralgia, sore back and muscles, and for headache, toothache, sore throat or chest it acts like magic. And for summer complaints, such as diarrhea, dysentery, cramps and colic, it is a most effective remedy.

A MILLIONAIRE
Says He Lives on Three Cents Daily

CLEVELAND, July 13.—Three cents a day is what living costs Valentine Christ, millionaire, who owns more Cuyahoga county land than any other man. The three cents go for his three meals a day. Some days he eats meat. Then he spends five cents. His other expenses are nothing, as he lives rent free in a tiny house on Bond street, N. E., which belongs to his sister. His clothes cost him little or nothing because his sister patches the old ones, and he gets along on these.

Christ rises every morning at 5 o'clock. He prepares his breakfast himself. It is invariably a slice of toast and a cup of tea. During the morning he receives in his back yard his attorneys and prominent Cleveland business men who come to see him. He eats a cup of coffee and two slices of bread and butter. During the afternoon he sits in his back yard again. At dusk he has a cup of tea and a slice of toast. And so his life goes on, the same every day, excepting that occasionally he visits his relatives in Cleveland Heights.

Christ is worth more than $1,000,000, but carries no money over more than $5 at a time. He has no one dependent upon him and has no proteges upon whom to bestow his money when he dies. He is 69 years old and a recognized force in the Cleveland world of finance. Bank presidents have visited him in his little back yard.

He came to America from Germany when he was 14 years old. With him were his father and mother and three other children. The father bought railroad tickets to Indiana for the family. When they reached Cleveland it turned out that they had been swindled, and the tickets were worthless, and they were put off here.

The father obtained employment as a tinner, in six months he died, leaving the family, Valentine, the oldest, with $5. Young Valentine went to work for his father's "boss." He got $2 a week. Within a year he was making $20 a week. He served through the Civil war, and then got $5 a day. He saved his money until he had several hundred dollars. One day he passed a sheriff's auction in front of the old court house, became interested and bought a lot. From that day his fortunes leaped. Acquiring land steadily and seldom making a mistake, he built up his million dollars.

LAWRENCE BOYS
CHARGED WITH SETTING FIRE TO CLUBHOUSE

LAWRENCE, July 13.—Albert, aged 11, and Louis Beauchene, aged 12, were arraigned in the juvenile court yesterday on the technical charge of delinquency, but their arrest came about in consequence of the investigation into the recent fire, which destroyed the so-called West End clubhouse, owned by J. W. Livingston. The fire leveled the building.

It is alleged that the boys entered the building, removed the plug of a gas pipe and lighted the gas, after which the building caught fire. It was reported to the court that the boys' mother worked in the mill and that they had no home influence. The younger boy was given in charge of the state board and Louis was sent to the Lyman school.

THE BRAVE CHAUFFEUR.

When a reckless auto driver kills somebody he is criticized severely as he should be, but what of the auto driver who risks not only his own life but that of the other occupants of his car rather than run into some pedestrian or vehicle that comes suddenly in the way. There have been a great many cases in which chauffeurs turned aside so quickly to avoid hitting somebody in front that they were overturned often with fatal results. The chauffeurs are not all bad, not all reckless. Many of them thus risk their lives by turning out when they could not be blamed if they went straight ahead regardless of the consequences.

NEED OF PUBLIC BATHS FELT.

This is the kind of weather in which we feel the need of public baths. When we see what luxuries the people of Boston enjoy in this respect, we have reason to ask that the city do something in the line of public baths. We are not a sea shore town and cannot, therefore, provide salt water baths as in Boston, but if we make a good beginning within our resources nobody will complain.

In Boston there are free public baths for boys, men and women, and all combined are patronized in hot weather, it is estimated, by an average of 20,000 a day. This in addition to the large number who resort to general sea bathing at the various beaches indicates to what an extent the public health of Boston is promoted by public baths. The people have a right to be grateful to Josiah Quincy as he was the mayor who put into operation many of the public bath stations and the playgrounds for the benefit of the people.

THE NEW POLICE BOARD.

If we have a police board who are its members? There is a widely prevailing fallacy that when a man is elected or appointed to office, he thereby becomes a full fledged official, but such is not the case. A man may be elected or appointed a dozen times to as many different offices but he can never take his seat or be invested with the authority of the office to which he is chosen until he qualifies by taking the oath of office. We often hear of "inducting public officials to office"; sometimes the ceremonies are known as inauguration exercises. On such occasions the officials chosen qualify as required by law and are then vested with the prerogatives of the offices for which they are chosen. The same is true in regard to appointive officials, although the exercises may not be quite so formal or so public. There must be the act of qualifying before the official can exercise the slightest function of the office to which he has been appointed.

These remarks are suggested by the dilemma in which Mayor Brown finds himself in regard to his new police board, only a portion of which has qualified. The board in order to have a legal right to do business must first consist of three members who fulfill the requirements of the law, and second, they must qualify before they can legally transact any business.

When the law was made providing for representation of both the political parties on the police board, it left no room for evasion or equivocation. If any police board could be conceived to be legal without a democratic representative or without three members, as required by law, the act which makes these provisions could be nullified, a fact which proves quite conclusively that the two republicans who have qualified for the police board do not constitute a legal board. Hon. Charles S. Lilley is not yet a member of the police board and will not be until he shall have qualified by taking the oath of office and until he or somebody else qualifies as the third or democratic member of the board, we hold that Thomas P. Boulger whom Mr. Lilley is to succeed is still a member of the board.

STOP PARACHUTE JUMPING.

For some years past a number of professional aeronauts or balloonists have been in the habit of inducing venturesome youths to make parachute jumps at the risk of their lives.

Parachute jumping is always very dangerous, its success depending upon the perfection of the parachute, the height attained and the condition of the atmosphere.

The aeronauts themselves know the great danger and seldom make the attempt unless under the most favorable conditions. They break in some young man and convince him that it is perfectly safe. Then they make contracts to give parachute jumps, getting well paid for the exhibition, but they get some of their underlings to take the risks usually for a small amount. The result has been fatal in so many cases that the parachute exhibitions should be stopped or at least so restricted that no aeronaut will be permitted to engage a youth to give such an exhibition without the consent of the youth's parents, if alive, or his wife, if married.

The case of the Lowell boy killed at Portland, Me., on July 5, is fresh in the minds of Lowell people. That was a terrible affair, but it was not any worse than several others of a similar kind.

We happen to know of a sixteen-year-old boy who was induced to take the chances on a parachute jump and was almost killed so that he is crippled for life.

There should be a law covering this whole matter, and if parachute exhibitions are not to be stopped altogether there should be legal restrictions, first, to prevent an aeronaut from inducing a young man to take dangerous chances, and second, to prevent any young man from assuming risks that are never safe. We have had too many exhibitions already and want no more of them. At Nashua yesterday the tragedy of Portland was nearly duplicated. How long will the public pay for being amused in a way that costs so many lives?

If the people do not want parachute jumps and refuse to witness them, then the whole matter would be regulated without any legislation but the public is so generally so fickle, variable, that some more reliable method of putting a stop to this hazardous amusement must be adopted.

SEEN AND HEARD

The man who gives you a flabby handshake seldom has many enthusiastic friends.

Ask a pretty woman which she would rather have for a present, another picture to hang on the wall or her boudoir or another mirror, and she will say: "Another picture."

Never fun to catch a train. It is a good deal of fun, though, to stand where the trains go out and watch other foolish people run.

A woman will forgive another woman for almost anything, excepting for being prettier than she is.

Smokeless powder is all right, but smokeless tobacco would make a great many women happier.

If poetic license cost something, as many other licenses do, a great many poets would have to go out of business, or else get along without it.

A girl ought never to accept boxes of gloves from a young man, if it is her intention to give him the mittens.

None of the books of etiquette tell the student of social forms what to do when he is dining in a restaurant and gets a mouthful of horseradish, which he has mistaken for potato.

When a man cracks his crazybone against the corner of his desk and suddenly remarks: "Jerusalem!" he often couldn't tell you whether the city is in Samaria or in Galilee.

The fellow who writes about Polly in the paper, Molly in the hammock, Dolly in the auto and mother in the kitchen—mother doing all the work—need not expect to be popular with Polly, Molly and Dolly, or their "company."

Isn't there something lacking in the higher education when college boys as a rule habitually smoke cigarettes?

The man who has real genius seldom realizes it himself. He only thinks that other folks are stupid.

The first time a young man appears in public wearing a silk hat, he thinks that everybody in the world is looking at him.

Every salaried man knows how much easier it is to be an optimist Sunday or Monday than it is on Friday night.

Amateur performers seldom realize that encores are sometimes given just out of kindness.

TWILIGHT CROON

Twilight songs for you, my dear!
Lullaby for you, my dear!
Peaceful rest for little feet!
Summer croon for weary!
Hushaby, oh, hushaby!
As the sun sinks in the west,
Lullaby, oh, lullaby!
See, the world is all at rest.

Dreams of love for you, my dear!
Magic visions so entrancing!
Mystic music on the ear,
Sets the fairy feet a-dancing!
Hushaby, oh, hushaby!
Snuggle down on mother's breast,
Lullaby, oh, lullaby!
For the Bygone Land in quest.

Rest, sweet rest for you, dear one!
Wonder goes the night-bird winging;
And the summer day is done,
As the clumber-bells are ringing!
Hushaby, oh, hushaby!
Sleep, the little one, oh sleep!
Lullaby, oh, lullaby!
Now the evening shadows creep!

Mr. Ziegfeld says that he will pay Miss Tanguay the largest salary ever given to one of his stars and the largest that has ever been given a star of a summer show. Miss Tanguay will make her first appearance with the "Follies" next Monday evening.

A cablegram to the New York Times gives this account of "His Borrowed Plumes," by Mrs. George Cornwallis West, formerly Lady Randolph Churchill. It was produced Tuesday afternoon at the Hicks theatre before an audience of great social brilliancy, which apparently accepted it with reservation as an original comedy of exceptional excellence. The cast was capable, including Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Dawson Milward, Henry Ainley, Gertrude Kingston, Annie Hughes, Stella Patrick Campbell and others of adequate merit. There was an occasion to the author at the close, and summoned to the stage by general acclaim, she made several still, encharmed bows and an old fashioned courtesy. The plot: Fabia Summer is a clever authoress married to an author less able than herself, but who is a "C" and has a penchant for flirtation, and it is around one of his flirtations that the play centres. Mrs. Cranfield, the other party to the flirtation, gets possession of the manuscript of the wife's next book and imparts to the husband the plot of that book as an idea of her own. He embodies it in a play, his chief doer, which is accepted by the national theatre. He reads it to his wife, who by this time is very jealous, and she recognizes in it her own plot and characters. Finally Major Summer tires of Mrs. Cranfield, who on the night of the production of his play tells him the truth about it, and how she had stolen the ideas from his wife's book. There is a reconciliation between husband and wife in the ante room of the royal box of the theatre and, going on the stage in response to cries for the author, Major Summer explains that the play, which has been given to the public as by an anonymous author, is the work of his wife.

The New York Daily Telegraph says that George Colman celebrated his birthday in the Fourth of July by dictating a new musical play to a relay of stenographers. Between times he sat at the piano and composed the score, which clearly had been fixed in his mind. Colman is in robust health. He has already delivered the score, lyrics and libretto of "The Chorus Man" for Raymond Hitchcock.

MILITARY HONORS

Were Paid to Ensign Aiken

NAPLES, July 13.—The officers and men of the American warships in this port united yesterday afternoon in paying solemn military honors to the late Ensign Hugh Kerr Aiken of the armored cruiser North Carolina, who died Sunday night, as the result of injuries sustained in an explosion on board the cruiser.

From an investigation which was instituted by Captain Maxwell, it was learned that Ensign Aiken Sunday attempted an investigation as to whether gas was generated in the coal hold. Wishing to face the risk alone, he instructed the sailors to keep behind him. When he entered, he was not able to detect any odor of gas, and one of the men, who was carrying a lighted candle, came forward. Unfortunately he slipped and his arm dropped, bringing the light in contact with the gas that was lying in a low level. Ensign Aiken received the full force of the explosion which followed. He was dragged out by the men but died some hours later.

Another accident occurred on the North Carolina yesterday, a sailor named Hecker being struck by a crane while loading coal. Two ribs were broken and the sailor is reported to be in a dangerous condition.

Later developments in the explosion on board the North Carolina indicate that the accident was of a graver nature than the officers on the cruise called to the attention of the command. Ensign Aiken was badly injured in the explosion, it being stated that he was completely blinded in both eyes. Several other men who accompanied Ensign Aiken also were wounded, but less seriously.

An enormous quantity of gas had been generated by the 300 tons of coal in the hold and many officers are at a loss to know why Aiken permitted a lighted candle to be taken into such a dangerous place. Immediately on the explosion, the sailors who followed the ensign sprang back, and managed in this way partially to save themselves.

An alarm was immediately given and the commanding officer with a force of men stamped on the fire, which otherwise might have communicated to the powder magazines. Aiken was picked up in a playful condition. He was terribly burned about the whole body and head. The North Carolina being anchored at a mile from its dock, the explosion passed unheeded. Aiken was carried to the infirmary of the cruiser, and the accident only became known yesterday on his death. The body will be embalmed and shipped to New Orleans.

THE AUTO RACE HAD AN OUTING

Plans for Advertising Barbers Went to Mountain Rock

The heat had little effect on the enthusiasm of the members of the committee on publicity and advertising of the National Automobile Carnival which met at the board of trade rooms last night. The members got right down to work and laid out a preliminary program which will tonight be presented to the governors of the Lowell Automobile club. Accompanying the plans will be a request for the appropriation of a large sum of money for the purpose of advertising the affair.

The members of the committee present last night were Lewis E. MacBrayne, chairman; Secretary McKenna, Thomas C. Lee, J. A. Harwell, Paul Chalfout, Robert Thompson, L. A. Derby and James Malone. The publicity committee is one of the most important committees of the carnival for it devotes on this body to spread the news of the coming races far and wide and attract hundreds of thousands of people to Lowell. A comprehensive scheme was discussed which will provide for a post-race party at the station upon the Boston & Maine, Boston Elevated and Boston & Northern, displays on electric cars, bill boards, etc., throughout the country. Numerous special and attractive devices of advertising will also be brought into use.

The committee will hold meetings hereafter several times a week, and will have a regular publicity headquarters as soon as the new rooms of the Automobile club will later be asked to co-operate with the committee.

THEATRE VOYONS.

The management of the Theatre Voyons has been disappointed yesterday to have to announce that the Washington pictures would not be shown till next Monday. The blame of this lies entirely with the Boston branch of the manufacturers, who failed to secure enough prints of the picture to go around. A very good bill was presented, however, one that pleased everyone and as good as any of the past month. The feature pictures "The Japanese Invasion" and "The Bishop's Strategem" both are new and their stories are very interesting.

Interesting Items From Mill Centres

HARRISVILLE, R. I., July 13.—The William Tinkham Co., which operated the group of textile mills in the village of Harrisville, has passed out of existence. The mills have resumed operations under the control of the United States Worsted Company, the Maine corporation which recently acquired the Tinkham property. Ernest W. Tinkham, who has been treasurer of the William Tinkham company, is acting as agent for the new owners for the present at the Harrisville mills. Mr. Tinkham is quoted as saying that there would be no change in the overseers or office help for the present at least. He also stated that the Harrisville mills would not be operated day and night, but that instead of the day and night schedule, 40 or more new looms would be added to the plant, bringing the total number up to 220.

NEW MACHINERY

HENRIETTA, N. C., July 13.—Several carloads of machinery have been received and it is being placed in No. 1 mill as rapidly as possible. This machinery consists mostly of pickers and cards and is taking the place of old machinery.

ADDITION TO CLEVELAND MILL

RAVENNA, O., July 13.—The Cleveland Worsted company will at once build a $50,000 four-story addition to its Ravenna Redfern Mills, 225 feet long. This will give employment to 200 more men.

ENLARGING ELM MILL

TILTON, N. H., July 13.—The Elm Mills Woolen Co., are running the mill overtime, and have recently installed 20 Knowlton looms and one set of Davis & Furber cards. This makes nine sets of cards and 92 looms. A new basement under the mill, 100x55 feet, has lately been completed and will be used for the finishing room.

MILL STOCKS QUIET

FALL RIVER, July 13.—The mill stock market was quiet last week and the number of transactions was small. Holders of stock were firm in their asking prices and in many instances the prices were secured. There is only one corporation in this city whose stock sells for less than par and the selling price for the shares is a few dollars below par. All the mills in this city are in good physical as well as financial condition and all have good prospects. Very few corporations pay less than a 5 per cent dividend rate.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS

ARE HAVING A GREAT TIME AT NABNASSETT

The Y. M. C. A. boys at the camp at Nabnassett are having the time of their life. Friday was visiting day and in the evening a mock trial, which proved to be very entertaining, was held. Those participating were: Judge, Bert Cheney; clerk, Irving Gumb; sheriff, Alfred Whitaker; lawyer for prosecution, Willis, Sleeper and Small; lawyer for defense, Mr. Williams; his witnesses, Worral, Harvey, Fleming. Ice cream and cake were served.

The Y. M. C. A. boys again demonstrated to the West Chelmsford team that they could defeat them at baseball, the score being 12 to 7.

On Saturday afternoon the "Dragons" from Lowell visited camp and had a swim. The baseball game ended in a dispute, the umpire not being satisfactory to the visitors.

On Thursday evening it will be visitors' day again and a minstrel show will probably be held.

LIGHT SENTENCE

FOR NEGRO WHO SUPPLIED MUSIC IN COURT ROOM

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 12.—When William Thomas, also known as "High-Liver," a negro charged with assault and battery, was taken before Charles E. Thompson, judge of the South city court in Kansas City, Kan., he pleaded guilty.

"Don't you think a year would be about right?" the judge asked the negro.

"Judge, talk reasonable," pleaded the negro.

"What do you think you deserve?" the judge asked.

"I could stand six months," the negro replied.

"Well," said the judge, "I am going to give you 30 days and I hesitated the negro drawing a long breath, '30 days'."

"Judge, I thank you from the bottom of my heart. I'll play you my favorite piece." In a moment the strains of "Home, Sweet Home," played on a month organ, floated through the court room, followed with "Turkey in the Straw" and "Swing Song."

When the last piece was finished, James Luscombe, prosecuting attorney, leaned over to Judge Thompson and said: "I believe 30 days is enough."

"Your sentence is 30 days," the judge said.

WASHED ASHORE

BODY IS THAT OF UNIDENTIFIED MAN

NATYAT, R. I., July 13.—The badly decomposed body of an unidentified man was washed ashore on the shores of Nantuxet last night. The body was found by a man named Waldron, who notified the medical examiner. There was nothing about the body except a bunch of keys that would tend to establish the identity. It was apparently that of a man about 25 years of age. It is being held at the morgue in Warren awaiting identification.

PURCHASE OF PARK LAND IN HIGHLANDS

Recommended by the Committee on Appropriations — Livingston Land Can be Purchased for $12,000

The committee on appropriations to which was referred the "White Way" proposition met last night and took favorable action in the matter. As was stated in The Sun a few days ago, the Lowell Electric Light company has agreed to make a three year contract of an eight year contract, as originally proposed, and the three year contract meets the approval of many who opposed a longer contract.

Councilman Davis, chairman of the sub-committee appointed to confer with the mayor and Supt. Hunnewell of the Lowell Electric Light company, moved favorable action in the matter and his motion was seconded by Aldermen Dexter, Councilmen Kearns and Jewett were opposed to the recommendation on the grounds that it was a luxury rather than a necessity and that the city was not in a position to indulge in luxuries.

Aldermen Grant and Dexter and Councilmen Grant and Davis secured the recommendation and voted for it. The matter will now go to the city government for final action, and Councilman Quin said last night that while he voted in recommendation it might vote differently when it was brought before the full body. He said he had not thoroughly looked into the matter as yet, but promised that he would before final action was taken.

Money for Park
The proposition to purchase land in Middlesex street for park purposes was considered. This was the Livingston park matter and the committee voted to recommend the purchase of it. The land will cost in the neighborhood of $12,000.

THE PRESIDENT

Is Enjoying Life As a Bachelor

WASHINGTON, July 13.—President Taft, the "summer bachelor of the White House" is sharing the fate of many other government officials and Washington residents whose families have gone away to mountains or seashore. The president is taking the situation philosophically, does not seem greatly to mind the hot weather and is receiving with great delight letters from Beverly which tell of the rapid improvement in Mrs. Taft's health.

Living bachelor-fashion at the White House is not in itself with the same discomforts that beset the more usual who has his home "closed upon him" when his wife goes away. The president and Mrs. Taft divided the White House "help" when the occupancy of the Beverly cottage was begun so the president is well taken care of and domestic affairs at the White House run on much the same.

The president, however, allowed Mrs. Taft to take the "first cook" to Beverly while he makes himself content with the "second cook." The "second cook" is a legacy from the Roosevelt administration, a negro girl named Mary who hails from Old Virginia and whose sway over the White House kitchens now is complete. Mary has few peers as a cook but as is to be supposed she is at her best when frying chickens and making hoe cakes.

The president has happily solved the problem of dining out in the evenings by taking long automobile rambles about the city and suburbs. Captain Archibald Butt, the president's aide, is always his companion on these journeys, and usually the president also takes some cabinet officer, senator or representative. Arriving about 7 o'clock, the president devotes nearly an hour with dumb-bells, pulley weights and other forms of exercise prescribed for him. He breakfasts slowly, usually alone although during the past day or two he has a guest from among the tariff conferees. During his morning meal and for half an hour or so afterward, the president reads the newspapers. Between 9.30 and 10 he begins his busy day in the executive offices. At 1.30 comes luncheon at the White House also with some invited guest for company. The president is devoted to golf for the president hopes to play every afternoon he remains in Washington. Dinner always finds guests assembled and usually it is an informal and delightful meal which begins little after 7 o'clock and continues for an hour and a half.

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—When he was searched at the police station where he was arraigned on the charge of being a professional beggar and creating a disturbance in the street, cash and bank accounts amounting to $14,140.22 were found secreted in the clothes of Bernard Moser. The man is 36 years old. He was sentenced to three months in the house of correction, but later Magistrate Scott sent for Theodore Reese, an agent of the bureau of charities, who took the man to the Philadelphia hospital to be examined. It is believed that Moser is a demagogue.

Moser was arrested after he had been evicted from a house where he had rented a little room. Policemen Barnes was attracted by the large crowd and found Moser pleading with the landlord to take him back rather than turn him out without a home. He had no money. Barnes inquired who the man was and learned from the crowd that he was a professional beggar, well known in the neighborhood. Moser pleaded with Barnes to take him to a place of refuge. He said that he had been evicted once, but lost a large sum of money in the old Kensington bank when it went into a receiver's hands.

Barnes took the man to the police station, where the charges were entered against him and he spent the night in a cell.

Magistrate Scott was amazed when he ordered a policeman to search Moser after hearing money rattling in his coat, when $45.90 and six bank books were taken from the lining.

COUPLE FINED

BOSTON, July 13.—A common victualer's license as a means to give away photographs with ham sandwiches, did not save Joseph H. Huneman and his wife, Rose Huneman of Hought's Neck, from prosecution when the police discovered that they were making pictures on Sunday. The Quincy police have put the blue laws in effect in that city so that anyone found working on Sunday is prosecuted. They found Huneman doing photographic work and told him to stop.

He secured a common victualer's license, and it was alleged by the police in court that he was selling ham sandwiches for 25 and 50 cents each and giving a customer a private sitting for a picture.

Associate Justice Pratt found the couple guilty and fined them $5 each. They appealed and gave bonds.

SEN. BEVERIDGE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 13.—Senator Albert J. Beveridge was greeted by a large crowd at a public reception in Indianapolis last night. The affair was planned by the Indianapolis club in recognition of the senator's work on the tariff bill.

"I do not take this reception as a personal compliment," said Mr. Beveridge, "but as the people's expression on a vital public question."

Sensor Beveridge quoted President Taft as saying: "Revise the tariff downward."

"But it was not his promise," the senator added. "It was the promise of the republican party voiced by him. I am one of those who believe that the most serious thing beneath the sun is a promise made between man and man."

"I am for protection. I believe that the American people are for it, but to be a protectionist does not mean that we are to be extortionists. When a tariff rate goes beyond the point of protection it becomes an excess."

SITUATION IS SERIOUS
BOGOTA, Colombia, July 13.—That the situation at Barranquilla at the mouth of the Magdalena river has been more serious than was at first supposed is revealed today by the surrender to the government authorities of Gen. Ortiz, the chief of the revolutionists on the Magdalena river, who has turned over also to the authorities the various river steamers and war material that he succeeded in wresting from the government ten days ago. As a result, traffic on the Magdalena river has been re-established.

MRS. C.H. MACKAY
Takes Helm of Equal Suffrage

NEW YORK, July 13.—If the equal suffrage movement does not reach aggressive and militant proportions in the United States in the next few months it will not be the fault of Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay. Since her return from abroad Mrs. Mackay has taken up the cause in earnest and is going to spend the remainder of her life in the cause of woman's rights. She has been in the United States for several months and has been very active in the cause of woman's rights. She has been in the United States for several months and has been very active in the cause of woman's rights.

SPONSOR OF THE CLERMONT 11. AND FULTON'S SIGNAL BELL

NEW YORK, July 13.—Mrs. Alice C. Sutcliffe, a great-granddaughter of Robert Fulton, christened the Clermont 11, a replica of the original steamboat with which the inventor navigated the Hudson river. When the launching took place at Mariner Harbor Gen. Stewart L. Woodford made the dedicatory speech, and a large gathering of notable people witnessed the launching. At the moment that the old little vessel slid into the water several carrier pigeons were released to carry the news of the launching to various points up the Hudson. The bell which was used on the original Clermont was installed on board the new vessel and will ring the hours from her bridge when she joins the great naval parade up the Hudson next September. It is estimated that the Clermont will steam at a rate of four miles an hour.

SALOONS CLOSED

Boys Were Baffled by No-License.

LYNN, July 13.—Detained at the poor farm in Lynn are two bright and smiling youths who were taken into custody by the police of that city while walking from Boston to Chicago, where their home is. They had planned to support themselves on the way by singing in bar-rooms, having made a living in this way during a stay of three weeks in Boston.

Leaving Boston and striking northward, however, they came upon a land of great drought. The big saloons with their brass rails and lights and noisy crowds disappeared, giving place to the deserted and small bar-room of the kitchen variety. And when the youthful strollers found Lynn as nothing they were forced to acknowledge themselves beaten. They applied to the police for lodgings, and were immediately arrested and sent to the City House, the Lynn police meaning sending word to Chicago.

Frank and Tony Bontevogna are the boys' names. Frank is 13 and Tony 6. Their home is at 2436 Lasalle street, Chicago. Some time ago their father was released from Joliet prison in Illinois, where he served three years. After getting out he deserted his family and came east. They heard he was in Boston. It was decided that the three oldest children, Katie, aged 16, and Frank and Tony, should go to Boston to find him.

The boys say Katie had enough money to pay their fares and that they got to Boston about three weeks ago. Katie got work in a factory. They could not tell where the factory was nor what the work was. They could not find the father. When the money ran low Frank and Tony took to singing in saloons and bars. They became separated from the sister. The streets of Boston were so crooked, they told the police, that they got lost. They know none of the streets by name. At last they decided to strike back for Chicago on foot. The oldest boy told the police he had rapped out a route that would lead them to Portland thence along the Grand Trunk to Buffalo, and then to Cleveland and Chicago.

SHAH MAY FLEE WOMEN ARRESTED

Expected to Take Refuge in a Police Think They May Know Foreign Legation About Chinaman's Murder

TEHRAN, July 13.—One thousand nationalists entered Teheran at 5 o'clock this morning. They came in by three gates and the entire northern section of the city was soon in their hands. There had been some fighting in the streets but as a general thing the nationalists are preserving excellent order. They are sending out patrols through the city.

The shah is expected momentarily to take refuge in one of the foreign legations. The royalists troops particularly the caucasi, have taken up a position in the central square and surrounding streets and it is believed that the nationalists will attack their position in full force if they do not surrender. The safety of foreigners does not appear at this writing to be seriously threatened. Spindahl, the nationalist leader with his followers are in possession of the building of parliament.

ment. A body of local nationalists under the leadership of young Seyd has taken possession of the residence of Saad-Eddowleh, the foreign minister. Many of the royalist soldiers, including a number of caucasi, have deserted to the nationalists.

The populace of the city is enthusiastic over the advent of the nationalists. They throw the streets wearing red badges and offering encouragement to the revolutionary soldiers.

There was a sharp outbreak of rifle fire this morning near the British legation. But it did not last long and the casualties among the nationalists were slight. The nationalists are in possession of the central offices of the Persian internal telegraph system. The Indo-European telegraph line, the outlet to London, is still working but with difficulty. Royalists and nationalists are fighting in the square in front of the office of the company which are under fire.

DR. OSLER
At the Chloroform Age

NO CHLOROFORM

But Dr. Osler Was 60 Yesterday

BALTIMORE, July 13.—Dr. William Osler was 60 years of age yesterday. He is also hale and hearty, but he isn't hereabouts. The fact is the joke is on him, and he knows it, so several days ago, like a famous Arab, he folded his tent and stole silently away. But he must admit that he is a human inconsistency. For, didn't he prescribe—thanks to the well-beloved pharmacists the prescription has not been filled—on a raw and gusty day, when life hardly seemed worth while, and that famous bourn whence no traveler returns route good to him, the chloroform route for men of three score years?

The eminent physician, who held that a man's best usefulness was passed at 40, and that he ought to be chloroformed at 60, sailed recently for England after a vacation trip to America. T. R. Bell, registrar of Johns Hopkins, said there was nothing in the appearance or manner of Dr. Osler then to indicate he had any intention of quitting the world. His grip was firm. Though of three score years, he was enthusiastic over the prospect of getting back to active, useful work as regius professor of medicine in Oxford. Dr. Osler is a polished gentleman. University men here are sure he would have been courteous enough, if he contemplated self-destruction, to have resigned as honorary professor of medicine in Johns Hopkins before his departure.

FOR CHANCELLOR

Von Buelow Favors Dr. Hollweg

BERLIN, July 13.—Prince Von Buelow, the retiring imperial chancellor, will formally propose in his audience with Emperor William tomorrow that he be succeeded by Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, secretary of the interior and vice chancellor. There is reason to believe that his majesty will accept this proposal and that the appointment will be gazetted at once.

Prince Von Buelow will thus be permitted to name his own successor. Emperor William requested him at Kiel to do so. In the remote contingency that his majesty does not accept Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, Prince Von Buelow will be permitted another suggestion. Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg is a college friend of the emperor. They were fraternal brothers in the Bernese corps at Bonn and during the entire reign of Emperor William, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg often has advised his majesty. He is a man of served, and thoughtful habits and serious has been called the "philosopher statesman."

OPPOSED TO KEEFE

GALVESTON, Tex., July 13.—By 41 votes the International Longshoremen's association refused yesterday to seat as a delegate its former president, Daniel J. Keefe, federal commissioner of immigration and naturalization. Mr. Keefe was not here yesterday when the convention refused to seat him, having been detained on the Mexican border investigating Chinese smuggling. But he telegraphed he would reach here on Wednesday and would oppose the action of the convention. The opposition to Keefe was alleged to be solely because he is not actively engaged as a dock worker.

M. BLEERCOT

PLANNING TO FLY ACROSS THE ENGLISH CHANNEL

ETAMPES, France, July 13.—M. Bleercot, one of the French aeronauts, who is planning to fly across the English channel, left here this morning in his aeroplane on a cross country flight in an attempt to reach Orleans and win the French Aero club prize of $2500. The distance is twenty-five miles in a straight line, a little more than the distance across the channel.

MADE GRAND FLIGHT

CALAIS, July 13.—Herbert Latham, the French aeronaut, who is waiting for favorable weather conditions to attempt to reach England in his monoplane, made a splendid fifteen minute trial flight today. In coming down, however, the wheels of the propeller were slightly damaged by contact with the earth. It was felt that he must head across the channel for France and the waiting torpedo boats and yachts went to sea to be in readiness to follow him should he do so. But the aeronaut held his machine over the land and came down near the starting point.

Captain Delaney for many years was in the coastal service in New Foundland waters and engaged in seal fishing. In his 12 years on the Bruce he had never missed a trip and despite hazardous New Foundland weather had never had a serious accident. DOUBLE HEADER
Big Crowd Saw Lowell and Fall River Play

Lowell and Fall River crossed bats in a double header at Spalding park this afternoon. There were over 1000 fans present when the first game started and there was a steady stream of tardy ones arriving while the game was in progress.

There was a new face in a Lowell uniform today, it being that of Mike O'Brien, the former Lowell player. He was located at his old place in the left garden and Mike got a good hand from his many admirers. McDermott was given a rest and Fluharty was in charge of the right hand corner of the field. Huston was covering first base while Blanchard and Boyle formed the battery for the local aggregation.

When the Fall River players arrived on the field they were togged out with straw sombreros which they had purchased at one of the five and ten cent stores.

Prior to the game the busiest man on the field was a sign painter who was doing an artistic job on the centre field fence. He had just finished the words "Go to" when the game started and the sign painter quit his job and became a spectator. There was considerable betting by the fans as to what word or words will follow the two already painted.

Duffy, the fellow who handed out some raw decisions yesterday, was the decision maker again today and called the first game at two o'clock, the batting order of the teams being as follows:

LOWELL
Venable, 3b
Pittspatrick, 2b
Fluharty, rf
Howard, cf
Uniac, ss
O'Brien, lf
Huston, 1b
Blanchard, p
First Inning

FALL RIVER
ss, Weaver
cf, Messenger
rf, Devine
lf, Devine
2b, McDermott
1b, Solbraa
2b, Nichols
c, Lemieux
p, Wood

Neither side scored in the first inning, both teams going out in quick order. Weaver sent the ball to left field for a single and went to second on Messenger's sacrifice. Devine hit to Uniac and was out at first while Bowcock fled to O'Brien.

In the latter half of the inning Venable fled to Messenger, Pittspatrick fled to Bowcock and Fluharty hit to Nichols and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 0, Fall River 0.

Second Inning
Two more goose eggs were registered in the second inning. McDermott fouled off to Huston and Solbraa hit to Uniac and failed to reach first. Nichols sent a fly along the first base line and Blanchard and Huston in running for it collided, but Blanchard got the ball.

In Lowell's half Howard fled to Uniac, Uniac got a single to right field but was nailed while trying to steal second and O'Brien was third out on a fly to Messenger.

Score—Lowell 0, Fall River 0.

Third Inning
The visitors scored one run in the third inning owing to an error by Howard. Lemieux, the first man up, drew a base on balls and he went to second on a sacrifice. Weaver sent a fly out to Howard and the latter dropped it. Lemieux scoring. Howard returned the ball to second and Weaver was caught. He started to put up a kick when the umpire for the first time told Weaver that he was out and to quit running. Messenger was third out on strikes.

Lowell had the score in the latter half of the inning. Huston opened with a single and went to second on Boyle's sacrifice. Blanchard hit to Weaver and was out at first while Huston went to third. Venable caught a line drive from Huston. Fluharty sent a Texas leaguer to right field and Venable went to third. Fluharty stole second. It looked as though the home team would do some more scoring but Fluharty hit to Weaver and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 1, Fall River 1.

Fourth Inning
Sharp batting on the part of the Lowell players accounted for the visitors' first scoring in the first half of the fourth inning. Devine opened by sending a line drive which Fluharty caught while on the run. Bowcock followed with a hot one between first and second base. Huston fielded the ball and threw the runner out at first. Blanchard covering the bag. McDermott was third out on a fly to Howard.

In the latter half of the inning Howard drew a base on balls and went to second on a sacrifice by Uniac. O'Brien fled to McDermott and Huston fouled to Lemieux.

Score: Lowell 1, Fall River 1.

SUFFRAGETTES
Refuse to Remove Their Street Clothing

LONDON, July 12.—The suffragettes who yesterday were sent to Holloway jail on charges of disorderly conduct while attempting to present a petition to Premier Asquith are following up the tactics inaugurated by Miss Dunlop and in addition to refusing to eat, refuse to change their street clothing for the prison garb. THOS. P. BOULGER

Member of Police Board Till Successor Has Qualified

Acting under advice of counsel, Thomas P. Boulger called at the office of the board of police and declared himself a member of the board. Previous to his arrival there, Chairman Simon B. Harris received the following letter:

Lowell, Mass., July 13, 1909.

To Simon B. Harris, Chairman and Secretary of the Board of Police of the City of Lowell.

As a member of the Board of Police I hereby notify you that you must take no action in any matters coming within the jurisdiction and powers of the Board of Police of The City of Lowell, and hold no meetings or conferences of the board without previously giving me notice thereof and allowing me sufficient time to attend. I am still a member of said board, and as at present advised shall not surrender my rights nor cease to perform my duties as such member.

Very truly yours,
Thomas P. Boulger,
Member of the Board of Police of the City of Lowell.

The statutes under which the board exists and from which it derives its powers provide that "members of said board shall hold their offices until their respective successors are appointed and qualified." After discharging the old board His Honor Mayor Brown, according to the communication to Hon. Charles S. Lilley, which appeared in this paper on Saturday, specifically named Mr. Lilley to be the successor of Mr. Thomas P. Boulger, and it would therefore, seem to follow that Mr. Boulger is entitled to hold his seat and to act until some successor is not only appointed, but qualified, and that means until he has actually taken the oath of office.

LIVELY INTERVIEW HELD

Chairman Harris told Mr. Boulger that he would refuse to recognize him as a member of the board, but that didn't faze Mr. Boulger. He insisted that he was still a member of the board and he intimated that he would be "Johnnie on the spot." He said he would attend the regular meeting of the board this evening.

After Mr. Boulger left the office of the police board, the chairman, Mr. Harris, went to the mayor's office and explained the condition of affairs to the chief magistrate. Later, in conversation with the city hall reporter for The Sun, the mayor said: "I have authorized Chairman Harris not to recognize Mr. Boulger. The mayor removed Mr. Boulger and the act was a legal one. The law supports the act.

"I asked the city solicitor for an opinion in the matter and he gave as his opinion that Mr. Boulger had been legally removed and had no claim to the office from which he had been removed. After receiving that opinion from the city solicitor I advised Chairman Harris not to recognize Mr. Boulger as a member of the police board."

"Was it a written or a verbal opinion that you had from the city solicitor?" queried the reporter.

"It doesn't make any difference, it was an opinion."

The reporter learned that it was a verbal and not a written opinion. The city solicitor maintains that Mr. Boulger was removed and having been removed cannot act as a hold-over.

"How about both parties, democrat and republican, being represented on the board?" asked the reporter.

"That's another question," said the city solicitor.

TWO ALIENISTS

To be Called by State in the Thaw Case

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 12.—Deputy Attorney General Clark announced at the resumption today of the inquiry into the present mental condition of Harry K. Thaw before Justice Mills that Drs. Austin Flint and Charles B. MacDonald would be the alienists called by the state to examine the plaintiff according to Thaw's own suggestion. Dr. Amos B. Baker, assistant superintendent of Matteawan asylum, who had Thaw under observation will make up the trio of experts for the state. Thaw's counsel said he was not ready to announce the names of the plaintiff's alienists until he had further conferred with his client. It was said Thaw would submit to an examination at the hands of the state's experts at the close of the lay testimony in the case. Deputy Attorney General Clark said that he had no definite assurances that Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, the prisoner's wife, would appear in court today in answer to the state's subpoena. Edward Havens a keeper at the pen.

saw Thaw daily when he was confined there was recalled the witness stand at the opening of court today and testified that the prisoner appeared entirely rational in his speech and actions as he had observed him.

On cross examination District Attorney Mack of Duchess got the witness to state that he had left Thaw alone at various times when the prisoner was in his charge although the keeper knew the sheriff had said he feared that Thaw might attempt to escape.

Questioned by Mr. Morschauser, Thaw's counsel the witness said he never had known of Thaw attempting to escape; that he had no fear that he would try to get away and was confident that he could be trusted.

The witness said that if he had thought that Thaw was insane he would never have left him alone for a moment.

W. W. Smith of Poughkeepsie, who is over 60 years old and who admitted hesitatingly that he was known in Poughkeepsie as a philanthropist, testified that he had met Thaw on two or three occasions and talked with him on religious topics.

"Thaw," said the witness, "appeared to be very well read and to have a good knowledge of the bible." His conversation was very rational.

Otto Metz, a New York court officer and former keeper in the Tombs prison, testified he frequently talked politics with Thaw.

"He certainly convinced me that the silver question and Bryanism would be a bad thing for the country," said the witness.

Deputy Attorney General Clarke objected to the answer and Justice Mills told the witness to confine himself to the actual conversations between himself and Thaw.

The witness said Thaw told him he thought Roosevelt was a "strong man and made a good president."

When Joseph Hudson, an old Long Island railroad conductor, was testifying, the dignity of the court proceedings were considerably ruffled by the boisterous laughter he created at times with his droll remarks. Mr. Hudson said he had four or five hours' conversation with Thaw all told, principally on railroad matters.

"To tell you the truth of the matter," said the witness, "I wanted to find out whether or not he was insane and asked him all kinds of questions to draw him out."

Thaw and the judge joined in the general laugh which this unsolicited statement by the witness created.

The witness said Thaw showed a remarkable knowledge of railroading. "I have probably met more men in my life than any man in this courtroom," Mr. Hudson volunteered, "and have had a pretty good schooling in human nature, and have seen many insane men, but there was nothing irrational about Thaw."

On cross examination District Attorney Mack wanted to know if the witness and Thaw had touched upon the killing of Stanford White in their conversations. The witness said no, but that he personally believed it was an act of Providence.

"Why didn't you question Thaw about that?" asked Mr. Mac.

"You might as well ask me why I had not been to heaven," said the witness. "I don't know."

BADLY SCAREDPassengers Thrown In-
to a Panic

NEW YORK, July 12.—One hundred and fifty passengers on the steamer Pegasus, returning from Coney Island at dusk last evening, had a bad scare down the bay when the vessel collided bow-on in the fog with a steamer anchored just outside the Narrows, believed to have been the German tug steamer Phoslog, which sailed from this port yesterday morning for Bremen.

The bow plates of the Pegasus were bent and a section of the port rail tore out. The passengers were panicky after the crash and the officers had some difficulty in putting them through the accident was not more serious was due to the fact that the Pegasus was proceeding at half speed while the other steamer was at anchor. No one was injured.

TWICE DIVORCEDWOMAN DECIDES TO MARRY ONCE MORE

CHICAGO, July 12.—Society in this city is little surprised by the announcement of the engagement of Miss Lottie Maynard Hartman, the former wife of Charles H. Swift, the millionaire packer. She was once a shining light in Chicago social life, and many lively incidents have marked her career.

She was the daughter of a boarding house keeper on Michigan avenue, and was married with a maid when it was learned that she was engaged to Herbert Swift. It happened again when the engagement was broken, and the young woman married Swift's brother, Charles.

She was divorced from Swift in 1902 on the grounds of adultery, and married Arthur Hartman, the famous violinist, in Berlin the following year. Her second marital experience did not prove very happy, and she obtained a divorce from Hartman a short time ago.

at $25,000

BOSTON, July 12.—Gertrude A. Eisenauer lies at her home, 12 Sawyer street, Dorchester, seriously ill, following the filing of a sensational breach-of-promise suit for $25,000 yesterday afternoon in the Middlesex court. East Cambridge, against prominent Back Bay physician, whereabouts last night, were unknown.

Dr. George Cutler, named in the suit, has not been in Boston for three days. His two offices, 532 Tremont street and 18 Tremont street.

At his uptown office last night it was said that no one more knew where he had gone or when he would return to Boston.

Donald Society is maintained at the home of the girl in Dorchester, where the father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Eisenauer, and Florence, the girl's sister, stay close by the bedside of 19-year-old Gertrude.

The family knew nothing of the engagement of the girl to the doctor. The first news came a few days ago, when the statement was made by Miss Eisenauer that she had decided to bring suit against Dr. Cutler.

Second the fact that Gertrude Eisenauer was at one time in the employ of Dr. Cutler and that the romance was a secret one, arising from association in office work, the family would say little. The girl has been ill since February.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH CONFERENCE: CAMBRIDGE, July 12.—The annual conference of the Episcopal church, under the auspices of the Episcopate society of New York, were begun today in St. John's chapel. A conference on the topic "Church and Church Extension" at which fifty young laymen (clergies were to be present), was a feature of the day's program.

Chapters for the study of the first epistle of St. John were started today.

BOSTON, July 12.—The formal opening of the Catholic Educational association's sixth annual convention took place today when a gathering made up of presidents and professors of the Catholic colleges of the country, clergymen and laymen associated with educational work and a number of nuns and sisters attended mass at the cathedral of the Holy Cross.

After mass a welcome address was delivered by Archbishop O'Connell, opening the day's proceedings. After this service the delegates adjourned to Boston college where the business meeting were begun. The association consists of three distinct departments, the secondary, college and parochial school, each of which is subdivided into sections.

LOS ANGELESHAS WATER SUPPLY FILTERED
THROUGH GOLD

RANDBURG, Cal., July 12.—The water supply of Los Angeles from the filtered snows of Owens valley country will wind through strata of gold. Part of the aqueduct is found to be heavy with auriferous veins, and in a number of cases pockets of gold have been taken away. Some parts of the construction works laborers actually dig for because of the chance of striking a pocket.

From one stretch of the excavation, less than 12 feet long, samples of high grade ore were taken which, in some instances, show assays of $900.

The aqueduct will literally cross a bed of placer gold and also go through lodes.

All sorts of stories are to be heard along the aqueduct regarding gold finds, one being as to the luck of Patrick McElroy, a Los Angeles laborer, who cleaned up $1200.

50,000 ELKSMADE THINGS LIVELY AT LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 12.—Fifty thousand Elks last night filled Los Angeles with music and noise. Among the first delegations to arrive were those from Washington, Detroit and Albany City.

After a day's outing at Pasadena, the opening evening of the reunion of the grand lodge was held last night in the auditorium, where speeches of welcome were delivered by Gov. Gillett and others. Grand Exalted Ruler Rush Holland responded.

Today the grand lodge will elect officers.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN

Wants United States Senators Elected by the People

LINCOLN, Neb., July 13.—William J. Bryan today addressed a letter to President Taft, asking him to allow the people to vote on popular election of senators. Mr. Bryan says:

President Taft: Now that the states are going to vote on the ratification of the amendment specifically authorizing an income tax, why not give them a chance to vote on an amendment providing for the election of United States senators by popular vote? In your speech of acceptance you said that you were personally inclined to favor such a change in the constitution. Would this not be an opportune time to present the subject to congress? Two constitutional amendments, one authorizing the income tax and the other providing for the popular election of senators, would make your administration memorable, and I pledge you whatever assistance I can render in securing the ratification of these amendments.

"Thanks for Ani-Sen Baby's Own Medicine"

Writes a Lowell mother. "I like it very much and will cheerfully recommend it. Baby is doing well." Ani-sen is bringing us many grateful letters. It would be strange if so good a medicine did not do so. Mothers have been waiting for just such a medicine, which they can give their children with perfect confidence that it can only do good. It cures all baby's common ailments of stomach, liver or bowels, teething troubles, etc., etc.

PLACE IN WEST

Is Suggested for Aeroplane Flights

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Wilbur and Orville Wright accompanied by Lieut. Lahm of the signal corps, who is to be trained in the handling of their aeroplanes today inspected the country surrounding Washington in an effort to find a large clear field where the officers can be instructed with less danger than at Fort Meyer where trees and buildings render the place unsuitable for training quarters. The Wrights favor a place in the west which could be made a permanent training grounds. They also want a place which is more or less inaccessible to the public.

Mr. Wright said he would make a short flight late today providing weather conditions were favorable.

FUNERALS

WRIGHT—Private funeral services were held last night over the remains of Mrs. Hannah M. Wright at her late residence, 53 Lamb street. Rev. G. Alger, pastor of the Pawtucket Congregational church, officiating. The body was sent to Chelsea, Vt. this morning for burial by Undertaker Albert H. Bixby.

ST. LOUIS—The funeral of Gilbert St. Louis took place yesterday morning from his home, 187 Perkins street, with funeral services at St. Jean Baptist church. Rev. Fr. Ouellette, O. M. I., officiated. The bearers were Charles Paquin, Joseph Turner, Hector Payer and David Beaudry. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, and Rev. Fr. Gratton, O. M. I., officiated at the grave. MAGEE—All that was mortal of the late Mrs. Mary Magee was tenderly consigned to its final resting place in the Catholic cemetery this morning. The funeral took place from the home of Mrs. John Magee, 359 Lawrence street, at 9 o'clock and wended its way to St. Peter's church, where at 9:45 o'clock a high mass of requiem was celebrated by the Rev. John T. O'Brien. The choir sang the Gregorian mass. At the offertory Mr. P. P. Haggerty sang "O Salutaris," and after the elevation "Pie Jesu" was rendered by Mr. James E. Donnelly. As the body was being borne from the church "De Profundis" was rendered by the choir. Mrs. Josephine McKenney presided at the organ and the choir was under the direction of Mr. P. P. Haggerty.

There was a profusion of beautiful and appropriate floral offerings, showing the esteem in which the deceased was held by her many friends and acquaintances, and among them were the following: large pillow of roses, pink, galax leaves, sweet peas and ferns with the inscription "At Rest" from the Magee family; standing cross and anchor on base of roses, pink, sweet peas and ferns inscribed "Lovingly" from the Atlas and Wamsley clubs; spray of roses and pink. Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald. There were several other sprays from friends.

The pall bearers were Messrs. George E. Richardson, John J. McDonald, Stephen McNaughton, Jeremiah F. Connors, George Mealey and James Shanley.

The funeral proceeded to the Catholic cemetery, burial being in the family lot, where the last sad rites of the Catholic church were read at the grave by the Rev. John T. O'Brien. The funeral was largely attended by relatives and friends, and was under the direction of Higgins Bros. undertakers.

THE CRUISING FLEET

SMALL POINT HARBOR, Me., July 13.—Fog, thick and almost impenetrable, shrouded the land and sea, when the yachtsmen of the cruising fleet came on deck today and looked around for the chance of going farther to the eastward. With the cruise at a standstill, the social element became stronger than ever before and there were gatherings during the forenoon on all the yachts while the gigs and launches darted back and forth with merry parties.

IN POLICE COURT

Assault Case in Which Women Were Principals

A long drawn out assault and battery case interspersed with sly testimony was heard before Judge Pickman in police court this morning. Marie Louise Masse, an attractive young woman, was the complainant while James LePage and his wife were the defendants. J. Joseph Hennessy appeared for the government.

The Masse woman testified that on July 5 while she was passing through Worthen street Mrs. LePage called her name and subsequently struck her in the face and broke her glasses. Then Mr. LePage went to the assistance of his wife and struck the complainant. Several witnesses corroborated the testimony offered by the complainant.

Mrs. LePage acknowledged that she grappled with the complainant, but said that the latter was to blame because she called her vile names. LePage denied having anything to do with the assault.

The defendants were found guilty. LePage being fined $4, while his wife was ordered to pay a fine of $8.

Family Troubles

John W. Howard was before the court this morning charged with threatening his wife, Mrs. Howard during the course of her testimony said that her husband came home Saturday night and threatened to kill her. He then went out and she locked the doors and windows and when he returned later in the night she refused to allow him to enter.

Howard denied that he used any threatening language and said that he would not do his wife any harm.

Judge Pickman thought that there should be a reconciliation and continued the case for three weeks, hoping that in the meantime Mr. and Mrs. Howard would come to a mutual agreement which would result in no further trouble between them.

Broke Into a Store

Peter Gero pleaded guilty to illegally keeping liquor and was fined $50.

SENATE HELD BRIEF SESSION

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The senate was in session twenty minutes today, adjourning at 12:20 until Friday. The major portion of the time of the sitting was devoted to a discussion of the unanimous consent agreement not to transact any business while the tariff conference was in progress.

The discussion arose over the effort on the part of Senator Carter to have a bill passed pertaining to the affairs of the district of Columbia on the ground that the bill was such a little one that no harm could result from its passage. But Senators Lodge and Culberson objected and thus prevented action.

The incident served to emphasize the understanding that no business will be permitted in the senate so long as the conferees are out and is a renewed assurance to the senators at the seashore that the interests of their constituents will not be impaired by their remaining away.

BLERCOT WON THE PRIZE

ORLEANS, France, July 13.—M. Blercot made a successful landing at Chevilly today, having covered the 25 miles from Etampes in 56 minutes, 10 seconds, elapsed time. This includes a stop of 11 minutes near Toury to examine his aeroplane. The aviator came down at the feet of the official timers. His descent was rather brusque and the propeller of his machine sustained slight damage. His average altitude for the trip was 100 feet. As the time limit of the flight from Etampes was six hours, and as there was no ruling against him making a landing, Blercot wins the prize offered by the French Aero club.

THE FLOOD CONDITIONS

KANSAS CITY, July 13.—Flood conditions in this vicinity showed much improvement today. The Kansas and Missouri rivers have both been stationary since last night. Eastern train service improved at Kansas City today. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe opened its main line to Chicago this morning. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad sent a special to Chicago over its own lines and regular service probably will be resumed tonight.

Union depot officials today estimated that within the last six days there have been fully sixty thousand travelers held in Kansas City because of interrupted train service.

ROY MCGREGOR

Was Saved by a Bagpipe

DEDHAM, July 13.—Roy McGregor, in the historic plaid of the McGregor, was before Judge Hutchinson today for vagrancy. With him was a bagpipe, and he proved to the court that he earned a living with it.

Although born in Scotland, and only on this side of the big pond three years, and, according to his story, in the United States but a few weeks, he showed his respect for the great republic by having a silk American flag floating from the top of a bagpipe and beneath it a Scotch flag.

"Roy McGregor, what say you to the charge of vagrancy at Woburn?" were the words of Clerk Clifford B. Sanborn.

Up spoke McGregor with the time McGregors spirit. "Not guilty!" He emphasized his plea by extending his hand holding money and saying: "I'm no vagrant. Your Honor, I have money to take care of myself."

SUPERIOR COURT

Indications Point to Large Fall Civil Docket

Next Jury Session Does Not Open Until October—Several New Actions of Tort Brought by Local Parties

In the October term of the superior court several new actions of tort will be listed in which local parties are the interested ones. There is no regular session of the court during the warm weather and the September docket is always a large one.

A session of the superior court for jury waived and court cases opens on the third Monday of September, but the jury sessions open in Lowell and Cambridge on the first Monday of October.

J. Joseph O'Connor of this city, who vies with his namesake of Boston and Wakefield, in the number of tort cases listed at the different sessions, has sent notice of a suit in the case of Julia Hurley vs. Lowell Machine shop in the sum of $10,000 to recover damages for the death of her husband, John E. Hurley, who was recently terribly mangled and fatally injured by a machine hammer while in the employ of the defendant company.

Notice of suit was sent out by Mr. O'Connor also in the case of Thomas Mooney vs. Lawrence Manufacturing company in the sum of $5000 for injuries received as the result of the breaking of a board on a staging upon which he was walking while employed as a hod carrier by the defendant company; the plaintiff being precipitated to the ground and badly injured.

Hannah F. McCarthy, one of the employees of the U. S. Cartridge company who was injured in the recent explosion, has retained Mr. O'Connor and notice of suit has been sent out, the damages being $5000.

Mary E. Blanchard has brought suit against the Boston and Northern in the sum of $3000 for injuries received as the result of a collision in Westford street some time ago while she was a passenger on the car. Her husband, Alexander E. Blanchard sues for $2000 for loss of services, etc. J. Joseph O'Connor appears for the plaintiffs in this case.

Last session's docket was one of the largest in a long while and the increasing number of Lowell cases in the county courts will undoubtedly soon result in more frequent sessions in this city.

There are many cases on the October docket from Lowell that were entered some time ago so that with the new cases now being brought the list promises to be perhaps a record breaker.

SOLEMN REQUIEM

In Memory of Late Fr. Ronan Today

One of the staunchest friends of the A. O. H. in this city was the late Rev. Fr. Ronan, of St. Peter's church, and as chaplain of the Ladies' Auxiliary of that organization he was a factor in its success in this city.

This morning at 8 o'clock a large representation of the Ladies' Auxiliary as well as the members of the A. O. H. divisions and many of the congregation assembled at St. Peter's church to assist at a solemn high mass of requiem for the repose of the soul of the deceased priest, requested by the Ladies' auxiliary. The celebrant of the mass was Rev. W. G. Mullin, acting pastor, assisted by Rev. D. J. Heffernan, deacon; and Rev. John T. O'Brien, sub-deacon. The choir under the direction of Prof. Haggerty rendered the Gregorian chant and solos were given by James E. Donnelly and Prof. Haggerty. A month's mind mass will be sung later on.

GREATEST NEW

SEVERAL ALARMS

Fire Broke Out Three Times in Same Building

The sounding of three alarms from box 425 at the corner of Lewis and Little streets within a period of about an hour and a half last night gave people the impression that that section of the city was ablaze and hundreds of people from all parts of the city hastened to Suffolk street where on the occasion of the last alarm there was a merry blaze in progress. Those who were looking for something spectacular, however, were disappointed. There was plenty of smoke but very little blaze. To add to the confusion of the ringing of the three alarms from the same box a false alarm was pulled in from box 46.

The fire was in what is known as the old McGuirk house, fronting on Suffolk street near Broadway, while it extends back about 100 feet in McGuirk's yard. The property is now owned by A. C. Wheelock.

Owing to the peculiar construction of the building the fire was very hard to fight, the strong draft from the spaces between the partitions carrying the sparks and burning chaff all over the building.

There are three buildings, connected with each other. Each building is two and a half stories high, the one which the fire started fronting on Suffolk street, the other two front in the alleyway.

Shortly after 7 o'clock neighbors in the vicinity saw sparks coming from the chimney and an alarm was pulled in from box 225. The department was soon on the scene and the fire was extinguished within a few minutes. It is evident that while the firemen were working about the chimney some of the bricks were loosened, though this was not learned at the time the firemen were there.

The firemen had been gone but a short time when it was noticed that sparks were making their way out through the woodwork of the house and another alarm was sent in. This time the firemen found that the sparks had worked out through a portion of the chimney where a couple of bolts had been displaced. The chemical lines were used with good effect, the long hose nozzles being poked up and down and all around the chimney on floors of the house. The firemen waited until everything appeared to be cool, expecting the attic which would naturally be hot after a fire.

It was thought that the fire had been extinguished the apparatus left. In the meantime some of the chaff had been whirled through the space between the floors and walls, and it did not take the sparks long to smoulder into a good sized blaze.

Another alarm was sent in and this time when the firemen arrived they found the blaze breaking through the roof and the sides of the house. This time they decided not to leave the place until they had flooded the building with water and accordingly streams were put upon every point of the roof and on the blaze in the interior of the building. The long low-studded attic with but one window in it was like a raging furnace and the firemen who had to work in that place found it exhausting to stay there any length of time. The smoke was dense and the wind carried it far. Close to the building it was so thick that it was difficult to breathe and yet the crowd could hardly move.

To add to the trouble, just in the midst of the confusion box 46 at the corner of Bridge and First streets rang in for another fire and this mixed the fire department up to a slight degree.

The loss will be about $3000. The building was occupied by five families, those of Morris Spillane, William Riley, Mrs. Mary Madden, and Mrs. Mary Moohan and a French family. The loss by water will be almost as great as the loss by fire.

A False Alarm

An alarm from box 46 at the corner of First and Bridge streets gave the department a run for nothing, for there was no fire. A man was walking along Bridge street when a boy rushed up to him and said that there was a big fire in First street. The man rushed to the box and sounded the alarm. When the department arrived there was no sign of a fire. The man who pulled in the alarm was located and told a straightforward story of how he happened to pull the box and now the police are looking for the youngster who told the fairy tale.

GIVEN SIX YEARS

Cahill Was Convicted of Hold-up

BOSTON, July 13.—Edward Cahill, who was charged with effecting one of the boldest robberies attempted in Boston, assaulting and robbing Alfred Sacco, a passenger on a Washington street car, in the early evening, opposite Clark's hotel, was sentenced to six years in state prison yesterday by Judge Harris of the superior criminal court.

Sacco was riding on a car June 25 and became engaged in an argument with Cahill and three other men. The evidence showed that the plan was pre-arranged. The argument developed into a fight in the car at a time when the street was crowded with people.

An officer, summoned by the conductor, arrived in time to capture Cahill but the other three men made their escape.

In all, Judge Harris disposed of nearly 30 cases yesterday, many of the defendants young men. In most instances they were sent to the reformatory or put on probation. All were without counsel.

One of the longest sentences was given to Joseph Bilistro, who was sent to state prison for seven years for attempted assault on a little girl in East Boston a few weeks ago.

Bernard Gately was sentenced to two years for assault and robbery of $5.60 from John T. Whitaker in a cold off Norfolk avenue in Roxbury, June 12. David Alexander was held in $1000 bonds for perjury on two counts, for perjury in failing to explain that the estate was mortgaged which he offered as bail for women accused of night walking.

MAN SUFFOCATED

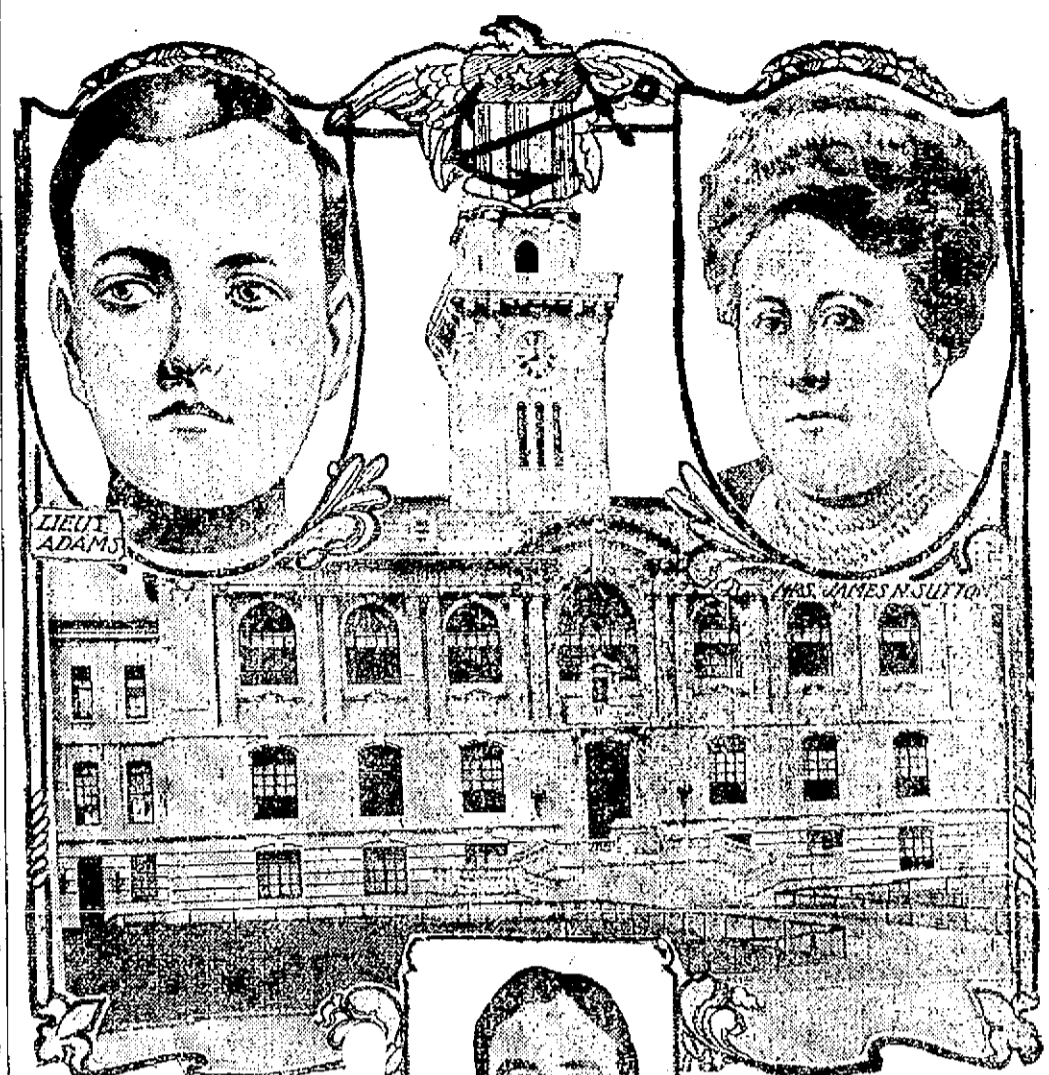

IN A FIRE THAT DESTROYED HIS HOME

GLOUCESTER, July 13.—Howard A. Parsons, aged 60 years, was suffocated in a fire which destroyed his home at 13 Russell avenue, here, late last night. His body was found in the kitchen by the firemen after the fire had gained considerable headway. The dead man was a father by trade and leaves a wife and children. The monetary loss by the fire was $3000.

VICTIM OF ANNAPOLIS TRAGEDY, HIS MOTHER, A WITNESS AND SCENE OF THE INQUIRY

ANNAPOLIS, July 12.—While many of the marine and navy officers scout the idea that Lieut. James N. Sutton was murdered, his mother, who after a two years' struggle has succeeded in having a new investigation ordered, is certain that the inquiry which begins on July 13, at Annapolis will show that her son was the victim of a plot. Lieut. Sutton was shot while returning to the marine barracks from Carvel hall on the night of Oct. 13, 1907. There is ample proof that he quarreled with one or more of his brother officers and that a short time after the quarrel he was shot through the head. Sworn testimony at the inquest was to the effect that he committed suicide. The most prominent witnesses are Lieutenants Edward A. Osterman, Robert E. Adams, Harold H. Utley, ex-Lieut. Edward P. Roelker and Miss Mary Elizabeth Stewart. Miss Stewart is a resident of Pittsburgh and according to Mrs. Sutton, was her son's fiancée. Lieut. Sutton, it is said, had spent the evening with Miss Stewart and was returning to the barracks when the tragedy occurred. The government officials have been trying to summon her to the inquiry, but she is reported to be in Canada, and it is doubtful if her attendance can be obtained. Mrs. Sutton is now at West Point, where another of her sons, who is a cadet, is recovering from injuries believed to have been received at the hands of hazers.

DONOVAN, DETROIT'S STAR PITCHER, WHO MAY HAVE TO QUIT DIAMOND

DETROIT, July 13.—Reports are now in circulation on the American League circuit that "Wild Bill" Donovan, the Detroit star pitcher, will be of little use to the Tigers for the balance of the season. Since the start of the season Donovan has given his considerable trouble, the terrible strain of 1907's campaign having told on "Wild Bill's" good right arm. In the three games he has pitched this season Donovan has shown none of the form that made him famous. In fact, in two cases he was pitched out of the box. Donovan has been acquainted with major league baseball since 1905, when he made his big league debut as a member of the Washington National League club. He played his first full season in Philadelphia and branched into the professional side of the game in 1908 with Sunbury, Pa., where he pitched for two years. He was with Lancaster and Waterbury in 1907 and was purchased by Washington in 1908. In 1909 when the Washington club disbanded, Donovan went to the Brooklyn club, with which he played four years. In 1902, just before the close of the war between the American and National leagues, Donovan and his business life here, are with

A MILLIONAIRE

Says He Lives on Three Cents Daily

CLEVELAND, July 12.—Three cents a day is what living costs Valentine Christ, millionaire, who owns more Cuyahoga county land than any other man. The three cents go for his three meals a day. Some days he eats meat. Then he spends five cents, his other expenses are nothing, as he lives rent free in a tiny house on Bond street, N. E., which belongs to his sister. His clothes cost him little or nothing because his sister patches the old ones, and he gets along on these.

Christ rises every morning at 6 o'clock. He prepares his breakfast himself. It is invariably a slice of toast and a cup of tea. During the morning he receives in his back yard his attorneys and prominent Cleveland business men who come to see him about investments. Then he eats his dinner, a cup of coffee and two slices of bread and butter. During the afternoon he sits in his back yard again. At dusk he has a cup of tea and a slice of toast. And so his life goes on, the same every day, excepting that occasionally he visits his relatives in Cleveland Heights.

Christ is worth more than $1,000,000, but carries no money, never more than $5 at a time. He has no no protegee upon whom to bestow his money when he dies. He is 69 years old and a recognized force in the Cleveland world of finance. Bank presidents have visited him in his little back yard. He came to America from Germany when he was 14 years old. With him were his father and mother and three other children. The father bought railroad tickets to Indiana for the family. When they reached Cleveland it turned out that they had been swindled, that the tickets were worthless, and they were put off here.

The father obtained employment as a tailor, in six months he died, leaving the family, Valentine, the oldest, with $5. Young Valentine went to work for his father's "boss." He got $2 a week. Within a year he was making $20 a week. He served through the Civil war, and then got $5 a day. He saved his money until he had several hundred dollars. One day he passed a sheriff's auction in front of the old court house, became interested and bought a lot. From that day his fortunes began to rise. He bought land steadily and seldom making a mistake, he built up his million dollars.

LAWRENCE BOYS

CHARGED WITH SETTING FIRE TO CLUBHOUSE

LAWRENCE, July 12.—Albert, aged 11, and Louis Beauchene, aged 12, were arraigned in the juvenile court yesterday on the technical charge of delinquency, but their arrest, came about in consequence of the investigation into the recent fire, which destroyed the so-called West End clubhouse, owned by J. W. Livingston. The fire leveled the building.

It alleged that the boys entered the building, removed the plug of a gas pipe and lighted the gas, after which the building caught fire. It was represented to the court that the boys' mother worked in the mill and that they had no home influence. The youngest boy was given in charge of the state board and Louis was sent to the Lyman school.

THE BRAVE CHAUFFEUR.

When a reckless auto driver kills somebody he is criticized severely as he should be, but what of the auto driver who risks not only his own life but that of the other occupants of his car rather than run into some pedestrian or vehicle that comes suddenly in the way. There have been a great many cases in which chauffeurs turned aside so quickly to avoid hitting somebody in front that they were overturned often with fatal results. The chauffeurs are not all bad, not all reckless. Many of them thus risk their lives by turning out when they could not be blamed if they went straight ahead regardless of the consequences.

NEED OF PUBLIC BATHS FELT.

This is the kind of weather in which we feel the need of public baths. When we see what luxuries the people of Boston enjoy in this respect, we have reason to ask that the city do something in the line of public baths. We are not a sea shore town and cannot, therefore, provide salt water baths as in Boston; but if we make a good beginning within our resources nobody will complain.

In Boston there are free public baths for boys, men and women, and all combined are patronized in hot weather. It is estimated, by an average of 20,000 a day. This in addition to the large number who resort to general sea bathing at the various beaches indicates to what an extent the public health of Boston is promoted by public baths. The people have a right to be grateful to Josiah Quincy as he was the mayor who put into operation many of the public bath stations and the playgrounds for the benefit of the people.

THE NEW POLICE BOARD.

If we have a police board who are its members? There is a widely prevailing fallacy that when a man is elected or appointed to office, he thereby becomes a full fledged official, but such is not the case. A man may be elected or appointed a dozen times to as many different offices but he can never take his seat or be invested with the authority of the office to which he is chosen until he qualifies by taking the oath of office. We often hear of "inducting public officials to office"; sometimes the ceremonies are known as inauguration exercises. On such occasions the officials chosen qualify as required by law and are then vested with the prerogatives of the offices for which they are chosen. The same is true in regard to appointive officials, although the exercises may not be quite so formal or so public. There must be the act of qualifying before the official can exercise the slightest function of the office to which he has been appointed.

These remarks are suggested by the dilemma in which Mayor Brown finds himself in regard to his new police board, only a portion of which has qualified. The board in order to have a legal right to do business must first consist of three members who fulfill the requirements of the law, and second, they must qualify before they can legally transact any business. When the law was made providing for representation of both the political parties on the police board, it left no room for evasion or equivocation. If any police board could be conceived to be legal without a democratic representative or without three members, as required by law, the act which makes these provisions could be nullified, a fact which proves quite conclusively that the two republicans who have qualified for the police board do not constitute a legal board. Hon. Charles S. Lilley is not yet a member of the police board and will not be until he shall have qualified by taking the oath of office and until he or somebody else qualifies as the third or democratic member of the board, we hold that Thomas P. Boninger whom Mr. Lilley is to succeed is still a member of the board.

STOP PARACHUTE JUMPING.

For some years past a number of professional aeronauts or balloonists have been in the habit of inducing venturesome youths to make parachute jumps at the risk of their lives.

Parachute jumping is always very dangerous, its success depending upon the perfection of the parachute, the height attained and the condition of the atmosphere.

The aeronauts themselves know the great danger and seldom make the attempt unless under the most favorable conditions. They break in some young man and convince him that it is perfectly safe. Then they make contracts to give parachute jumps, getting well paid for the exhibition, but they get some of their undertakings to take the risks usually for a small amount. The result has been fatal in so many cases that the parachute exhibitions should be stopped or at least so restricted that no aeronaut will be permitted to engage a youth to give such an exhibition without the consent of the youth's parents, if alive, or his wife, if married.

The case of the Lowell boy killed at Portland, Me., on July 5, is fresh in the minds of Lowell people. That was a terrible affair, but it was not any worse than several others of a similar kind.

We happen to know of a sixteen-year-old boy who was induced to take the chances on a parachute jump and was almost killed so that he is crippled for life.

There should be a law covering this whole matter, and if parachute exhibitions are not to be stopped altogether, there should be legal restrictions, first, to prevent an aeronaut from inducing a young man to take dangerous chances, and second, to prevent any young man from assuming risks that are almost suicidal. We have had too many exhibitions already and want no more of them. At Nashua yesterday the tragedy of Portland was nearly duplicated. How long will the public pay for being amused in a way that costs so many lives?

If the people do not want parachute jumps and refuse to witness them, then the whole matter would be regulated without any legislation; but the public is so uncertain, fickle, variable, that some more reliable method of putting a stop to this hazardous amusement must be adopted.

SEEN AND HEARD

The man who gives you a dainty handshake seldom has many enthusiastic friends.

Ask a pretty woman which she would rather have for a present, another picture to hang on the wall of her boudoir or another mirror, and she will say: "Another picture."

Never run to catch a train. It is a good deal of fun, though, to stand where the trains go out and watch other foolish people run.

A woman will forgive another woman for almost anything, excepting for being prettier than she is.

Smokeless powder is all right, but smokeless tobacco would make a great many women happier.

If poetic license cost something, as many other licenses do, a great many poets would have to go out of business, or else get along without it.

A girl ought never to accept boxes of gloves from a young man, if it is her intention to give him the mitten.

None of the books of etiquette tell the student of social forms what to do when he is dining in a restaurant and gets a mouthful of horseradish, which he has mistaken for potato.

When a man cracks his crazybone against the corner of his desk and suddenly remarks: "Jerusalem!" he often couldn't tell you whether the city is in Samaria or in Galilee.

The fellow who writes about Polly in the parlor, Molly in the hammock, Dolly in the auto and mother in the kitchen—mother doing all the work—need not expect to be popular with Polly, Molly and Dolly, or their "company."

Isn't there something lacking in the higher education when college boys as a rule habitually smoke cigarettes?

The man who has real genius seldom realizes it himself. He only thinks that other folks are stupid.

The first time a young man appears in public wearing a silk hat, he thinks that everybody in the world is looking at him.

Every salaried man knows how much easier it is to be an optimist Sunday or Monday than it is on Friday night.

Amateur performers seldom realize that encores are sometimes given just out of kindness.

TWILIGHT CROON

Twilight songs for you, my dear!
Lullabies for you, my dear!
Peaceful rest for little feet to the land
Slumber croons for eyelids weary:
Hushaby, oh, hushaby!

As the sun sinks in the west,
Lullaby, oh, lullaby!
See, the world is all at rest.

Dreams of love for you, my dear!
Magic visions so entrancing:
Mystic music on the ear,
Sets the fairy feet a-dancing!

Hushaby, oh, hushaby!
Lullaby, oh, lullaby!
For the Bylow Land in quest.

Rest, sweet rest, for you, dear one!
Yonder goes the night-bird winging!
And the summer day is done.
As the chamber-bells are ringing!
Hushaby, oh, hushaby!

Sleep thee, little one, oh sleep!
Lullaby, oh, lullaby!
Now the evening shadows creep!

Miss Tanguay will make her first appearance with the "Follies" next Monday evening.

A cablegram to the New York Times gives this account of "His borrowed Plumes," by Mrs. George Cornwallis West, formerly Lady Randolph Churchill. It was produced Tuesday afternoon at the Hicks theatre before an audience of great social brilliancy, which apparently accepted it without reservation as an original comedy of exceptional excellence. The cast was capable, including Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Dawson Milward, Henry Ainley, Gertrude Kingston, Annie Hughes, Melic Patrick Campbell and others of adequate merit. There was an ovation to the author at the close, and summoned to the stage by general acclaim, she made several stiff, embarrassed bows and an old fashioned courtesy. The plot, Fabia Summer is a clever authoress married to an author less than herself, but who is a V. C. and has a penchant for fiction, and it is around one of his fictions that the play centres. Mrs. Cranfield, the other party to the fiction, gets possession of the manuscript of the wife's next book and presents to the husband the plot of that book as an idea of her own. He embodies it in a play, his chief d'oeuvre, which is accepted by the national theatre. He reads it to his wife, who by this time is very jealous, and she recognizes in it her own plot and characters. Finally, on the night of the production of his play tells him the truth about it, and how she had stolen the ideas from his wife's book. There is a reconciliation between husband and wife in the ante room of the royal box of the theatre and, going on the stage in response to cries for the author, Major Summer explains that the play, which has been given to the public as by an anonymous author, is the work of his wife.

MILITARY HONORS

Were Paid to Ensign Aiken

NAPLES, July 12.—The officers and men of the American warships in this port united yesterday afternoon in paying solemn military honors to the late Ensign Hugh Kerr Aiken, of the armored cruiser North Carolina, who died Sunday night, as the result of injuries sustained in an explosion on board the cruiser.

From an investigation which was instituted by Captain Marshall, it was learned that Ensign Aiken, Sunday, had tempted an investigation as to whether gas was generated in the coal hold. Wishing to face the risk alone, he instructed the sailors to keep behind him. When he entered, he was not able to detect any odor of gas, and one of the men, who was carrying a lighted candle, came forward. Unfortunately he slipped and his arm dropped, bringing the light in contact with the gas that was lying in a low level. Ensign Aiken received the full force of the explosion which followed. He was dragged out by the men but died some hours later.

Another accident occurred on the North Carolina yesterday, a sailor named Hechen being struck by a crane while loading coal. Two ribs were broken and the sailor is reported to be in a dangerous condition.

Later developments in the explosion on board the North Carolina indicated that the cause was of a grave nature, and that the officers of the cruiser cared to admit. Corporal Maloney was also badly injured in the explosion, it being stated that he was completely blinded in both eyes. Several other men who accompanied Ensign Aiken also were wounded, but less seriously.

An enormous quantity of gas had been generated by the 300 tons of coal in the hold and naval officers are at a loss to know why Aiken permitted a lighted candle to be taken into such a dangerous place. Immediately on the explosion, the sailors who followed the ensign sprang back, and managed in this way partially to save themselves. An alarm was immediately given and the commanding officer, with a force of men stamped out the fire, which otherwise might have communicated to the powder magazines. Aiken was picked up in a pitiful condition. He was terribly burned about the whole body and head. The North Carolina, lying anchored at the end of Surcouf harbor, half a mile from the rocks, the explosion passed unperceived. Aiken was carried to the infirmary of the cruiser, and the accident only became known yesterday on his death. The body will be embalmed and shipped to New Orleans.

THE AUTO RACE HAD AN OUTING

Plans for Advertising Barbers Went to Mountain Rock

The heat had little effect on the enthusiasm of the members of the committee on publicity and advertising of the National Automobile Carnival which met at the board of trade rooms last night. The members got right down to work and laid out a preliminary program which will tonight be presented to the governors of the Lowell Automobile club. Accompanying the plans will be a request for the appropriation of a large sum of money for the purpose of advertising the affair.

The members of the committee present last night were Lewis E. Marne, chairman; Secretary McKenna, Thomas C. Lee, J. A. Himmelfarb, Paul Chaffoux, Robert Thompson, L. A. Derby and James Malone.

The publicity committee is one of the most important committees of the carnival for it develops on this body to spread the news of the coming races far and wide and attract hundreds of thousands of people to Lowell. A comprehensive scheme was discussed that provide for a music display at every station upon the Boston & Maine, Boston Elevated and Boston & Northern, displays on electric cars, bill boards, etc., throughout the country. Numerous special and attractive devices of advertising will also be brought into use.

The committee will hold meetings hereafter several times a week, and will have a regular publicity headquarters as soon as the new rooms of the Automobile club are ready for occupancy. All of the owners of automobiles in Lowell will later be asked to co-operate with the committee.

Interesting Items From Mill Centres

HARRISVILLE, R. I., July 13.—The William Tinkham Co., which operated the group of three mills in the village of Harrisville, has passed out of existence. The mills have resumed operations under the control of the United States Worsted Company, the Maine corporation which recently acquired the Tinkham property. Ernest W. Tinkham, who has been treasurer of the William Tinkham company, is acting as agent for the new owners for the present at the Harrisville mills. Mr. Tinkham is quoted as saying that there would be no change in the overseers or office help for the present at least. He also stated that the Harrisville mills would not be operated day and night, and that instead of the day and night schedule, 40 or more new looms would be added to the plant, bringing the total number up to 220.

NEW MACHINERY

HENRIETTA, N. C., July 13.—Several carloads of machinery have been received and it is being placed in No. 1 mill as rapidly as possible. This machinery consists mostly of pickers and cards and is taking the place of old machinery.

ADDITION TO CLEVELAND MILL

RAVENNA, O., July 13.—The Cleveland Worsted company will at once build a $50,000 four-story addition to its Ravenna Redfern Mills, 235 feet long. This will give employment to 200 more men.

ENLARGING ELM MILL

TILTON, N. H., July 13.—The Elm Mills Woolen Co., are running the mill overtime, and have recently installed 20 Knowles looms and one set of Davis & Furber cards. This makes nine sets of cards and 32 looms. A new basement under the mill, 100x55 feet, has lately been completed and will be used for the finishing room.

MILL STOCKS QUIET

FALL RIVER, July 13.—The mill stock market was quiet last week and the number of transactions was small. Holders of stock were firm in their asking prices and in many instances the prices were secured. There is only one corporation in this city whose stock sells for less than par, and the selling price for the shares is a few dollars below par. All the mills in this city are in good physical as well as financial condition and all have good prospects. Very few corporations pay less than a 6 per cent dividend rate.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS

ARE HAVING A GREAT TIME AT NABNASSETT

The Y. M. C. A. boys at the camp at Nabnassett are having the time of their life. Friday was visiting day and in the evening a mock trial, which proved to be very entertaining, was held. Those participating were: Judge, Bert Cheney; clerk, Irving Gumb; sheriff, Alfred Whitaker; lawyer for prosecution, Irving Snyder; his witnesses, Willis Soper and Small; lawyer for defense, Mr. Williams; his witnesses, Worral, Harvey, Flemings. Ice cream and cake were served.

The Y. M. C. A. boys again demonstrated to the West Chinoiserie team that they could defeat them at baseball, the score being 12 to 7.

On Saturday afternoon the "Dragons" from Lowell visited camp and had a swim. The baseball game ended in a dispute, the umpire not being satisfactory to the visitors.

On Thursday evening it will be visitors' day again and a minstrel show will probably be held.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 13.—When William Thomas, also known as "High-Liver," a negro charged with assault and battery, was taken before Charles E. Thompson, judge of the South city court in Kansas City, Kan., he pleaded guilty.

"Don't you think a year would be about right?" the judge asked the negro.

"Judge, talk reasonable," pleaded the negro.

"What do you think you deserve?" the judge asked.

"I could stand six months," the negro replied.

"Well," said the judge, "I am going to give you—" and he hesitated, the negro drawing a long breath.

"Judge, I thank you from the bottom of my heart. I'll play you my favorite piece." In a moment the strains of "Home, Sweet Home," played on a mouth organ, floated through the court room, followed with "Turkey in the Straw" and "School Day."

When the last piece was finished, James Luxcombe, prosecuting attorney, leaned over to Judge Thompson and said: "I believe 30 days is enough."

"Your sentence is 30 days," the judge said.

WASHED ASHORE

BODY IS THAT OF UNIDENTIFIED MAN

NATATT, R. I., July 13.—The badly decomposed body of an unidentified man was washed ashore on the shores of Narragansett Bay last night. The body was found by a man named Waldron, who notified the medical examiner. There was nothing about the body except a bunch of keys that would tend to establish the identity. It was apparently that of a man about 25 years old. It is being held at the morgue in Warren awaiting identification.

HORSE RACING IN THE EAST ON ITS FEET AGAIN

By TOMMY CLARK.
HORSE racing in the east is coming back in great shape. Nearly every day since the opening of the season there has been increased attendance. The old time enthusiasm is again manifested, and horses are rooted in as of yore, and close finishes and able jockeyship are loudly applauded. Shortly after the passage of the Agnew-Hart anti-betting law one could almost hear a pin drop as a field of horses struggled down the stretch to the finish. Even the old cry of "They're off!" was rarely heard, and often a race would almost be over before the crowd was aware it had started. Surely the law against betting had put a damper on things in general, and it was freely predicted that another year would witness the passing of the thoroughbred in the east.

The change in conditions this season is hard to believe. Favorable decisions by all courts of law in New York have pulled the game out of the fire. It is no longer considered a crime to bet man to man fashion, and the horse public is gradually, if not any too quickly, becoming aware of the fact. The Eastern Jockey club officials consider the business of oral betting a private matter, but in the best interests of racing will not permit groups to gather on the lawns. But no restriction is placed on the old betting ring, and most probably they will drift back to their old places, but with the stools missing.

A prominent racing official in talking of betting recently said: "If it is permissible to make oral bets in one place it is perfectly legal to make them in another. And a man is not guilty of a violation of the statutes because he chooses to stand under a roof in preference to some spot without a shelter. Of course no gambling paraphernalia will be permitted to be used in the shed." The attendance at the Gravesend (N. Y.) track the day of the Brooklyn handicap was as near old times as the most ardent supporter of the game could desire under present conditions. The attendance represented fully $15,000, the largest since the anti-betting law was passed. The grand stand was so crowded that it was necessary for its occupants to stand on the seats to see the finish. If any further argument is needed to convince one that the game is on its feet again, the plans of the associations whose meetings are to be held later should be sufficient. Nearly every track is to have five day meetings instead of four, and at Saratoga, N. Y., there is to be racing six days of the week.

"I Care Not For the Shines That Star," Sings Nora Bayes In "Follies of 1909;" "The Motor Girl" Also a Hit

[From Our New York Dramatic Correspondent.]
TWO dashing new summer shows of attractive qualities, "The Follies of 1909," at the New York theater roof garden, and "The Motor Girl," at the Lyric theater, will, with "Havana," at the Casino, and "The Midnight Sons," at the Broadway, give New Yorkers a pleasing variety for the hot months, now in our midst.

"The Follies," the latest production of F. Zeigfeld, Jr., is a medley, a combination spice salad (whatever that is) of girls who glitter, gambol and gleam, with here and there a comedian or two of the opposite sex.

"I Care Not For the Shines That Star" sings Nora Bayes, who is a delight in the most prominent role. Miss Bayes sings several song numbers in entertaining fashion, as also does Lillian Lorraine, the airship girl.

The airship scene is a novelty. Miss Lorraine is suddenly seen to glide from a corner of the theater in a gayly bedecked imitation of the Wright aeroplane. However, her aero is attached to the sky, and the Wright brothers' affair isn't.

Probably the most amusing of the many scenes is a view of the East African jungle, where ex-President Roosevelt is hunting. A corner of the forest primeval is shown where a badly frightened section gang of tigers, lions, giraffes, elephants, ostriches, monkeys, etc., is found hiding from "Bwana Tumbo." The fact that there are no tigers or ostriches in East Africa didn't bother the authors or stage manager.

Kermit Roosevelt appears, crying for his papa, for he is lost in the jungle, being unable to find his way back to the hotel. Kermit grabs a lion in true Rooseveltian style, and after extracting its teeth he later hangs a target on its dining room and holds it up for his father to shoot.

One number—the finale of the first act—has dash and ginger in it. Girls representing every state in the Union, each wearing on her head a miniature battleship, dance on the stage to national airs. Then the house is darkened and the ships are illuminated with electricity against a background showing the tall buildings of New York. It is the prettiest picture of all the night.

Oscar Hammerstein is lampooned by seven different people in one scene—Oscar, the shining mark of all the summer show librettists!

"The Motor Girl."

The story of "The Motor Girl" doesn't matter. It is all about a motor girl who won a race disguised as a man. When her identity was discovered she was disqualified. She lost the race, but won a husband. Therefore there is a love affair—yes, two of them—and the principals act like real lovers.

Georgia Caine as Dorothy Dare, the motor girl, divided the starring honors with Elizabeth Brice, who played Louise, mistress of Altemstein. These girls can sing. Moreover they can act, and act naturally.

Miss Caine sang "The Motor Girl" song with style. She gave us "The Ball of the Daisy Lunch," with instructions of the "rotter and sinker" club, so familiar to quick lunch fiends, and she sang "Just Supper You Love Me" with Martin Brown, who played Dick Wroughton, her sweetheart, and sang there so well that the audience made the theater rock with applause.

Elizabeth Brice, a winsome little miss with a smiling face and a sweet voice, sang half a dozen selections, the best of which were "In Philadelphia" and "I'm Old Enough to Think." Adelaide Sharp contributed the feminine comedy. As Wilhelmina Lamm, a Dutch maid, she had the house in an uproar. Her German dialect was a scream.

Miss Sharp also sang well. James F. Cook and John Lorenz, as Bill Pusher and Robin Coyne, were the other funmakers. As escaped jail birds, who tried to conceal their prison stripes under heavy automobile buffalo robes while defying the hot weather, they provoked great mirth. One of the pair—which it was impossible to tell—did a comedy pianologue and the conference of the National league magnates in Cincinnati recently, which was generally supposed to be a talk- fest on the status of President Harry C. Pulliam, turned out to be one of the most important war councils held in some years according to inside information handed out by one of the big men in baseball and one who generally knows what he is talking about.

This is the story: The National and American leagues are prepared to strike a deathblow at the Eastern league and American association should this clique of Class AA moguls mention war next fall. Since the Class AA protest refused to sign the joint agreement promulgated at Cincinnati last January, in which the big leagues handed out a number of concessions and for by the two leading minor leagues, rumors have broken out that the American association will surely invade Chicago and that the two organizations have plans to organize a powerful independent organization as a rival to organized baseball.

To nip these plans the National and American leagues lost no time in getting together secretly and preparing for any war that minors may instigate. If the present controversy comes to the issue the plans of the big leagues will surely work a revolution in the baseball world as well as upset conditions in minor league circles. In fact, it is the biggest war move since the organization of the American league, as well as the famous Brotherhood squabble.

To squash any move of the disgruntled minors to become independent the big leagues have planned to increase their circuit to twelve cities. The plan is to take eight of the best cities, four in each of the Eastern league and American association. In the American association it is planned to pluck Indianapolis, Louisville, Kansas City, and either Columbus or Toledo. From the Eastern league, Buffalo, Baltimore, Providence and either Newark or Jersey City will be taken.

From these eight cities which are to be taken the two major leagues will divide the spoils, each club adding two eastern and two western cities to their respective circuits. From past experience, twelve club circuits have proved to be burdensome affairs, but in case of war such a course would operate in favor of the majors, while, on the other hand, it would seriously cripple the strength of the two discontented minor organizations.

Big Leagues Prepare For Fight.
War specks, and big ones at that, have appeared on the baseball horizon.

The future status of professional baseball and is found in the nature of things to look for a change of a national status that has been of the possible enormous increase of the tolling millions. If the plans work, this is what we expect to hear in the near future: "Have you got anything on tonight, babe?"

"Well, let's go out to the ball game. Sportsman is going to pitch. The game doesn't begin until 8 o'clock."

"Will the game be over before midnight?"

"Sure. They're not playing a double header this evening. It'll be pretty early, but I guess we won't mind."

WHAT DOES THE ACTOR KNOW?

The art of acting is the one thing which this generation of actors seems to know the least about. They can make the green gold; their social gifts are many and various. But the widest press agent never seems called upon to inform the public that his client spends so many hours a day reading over Dorian or Genset or reading Shakespeare or making the acquaintance of Shakespeare and Goethe. Ask the average actress who appears as Juliet whether she has ever read "What Hazlett, Ralph Hunt or Charles Lamb said about this young queen having these characters and you will get a bewildered stare for an answer. Actors will tell you they prefer to cultivate the characters from their own inner consciousness. They have a fair board of Albee Doolies; they could not tell you a word about the "Hamlet episode" in the life of Hector H. Shaw. The theatrical papers they know by heart, but put them through examination in the literary tendencies of their own day and they prove hopelessly ignorant.

AN EXHIBITION AT STRATFORD.

There was recently held in Stratford-on-Avon a Shakespeare exhibition, the objects displayed being ancient domestic goods of the kind which would have filled the house of a Stratford mayor in the poet's time. There were in this collection objects said to throw light on some expressions and incidents in "The Taming of the Shrew," a play containing many allusions to the people and customs of sixteenth century Warwickshire. One of the articles illustrated Shakespeare's line, "And burn sweetwood to make the chamber sweet." It was a thing that looked like a pair of water irons, but was in reality a pair of bellows with a little chamber in the nozzle, in which "sweetwood," like sandal or fragrant herbs, could be incensed in company with a bit of live charcoal. On working the bellows a smoke of exceedingly good smell would be diffused in the room.

Hobe Ferris of the St. Louis Browns is once more demonstrating that he is one of the leading third sackers in the American league. Ferris is now putting up that same consistent game that characterized his playing in former years.

Night Baseball.

and the work is the first American composition of its kind that has ever been accepted by a court theater in Europe.

The story of the opera concerns a legendary character named Poia, who in order to win the love of a girl of his tribe made a hazardous journey to the home of the sun god and, because of his bravery and devotion, was chosen by the gods to be their prophet upon earth. The legend upon which the libretto is founded is really the Christ story of the Indians of the northwest. It differs from similar legends possessed by all races chiefly in the fact that human love is the inspiration that leads the hero to spiritual perfection.

All Characters Are Indians.

The action takes place at a period long before the arrival of white men in America, and the characters are all Indians and personages of Indian mythology. Mr. Hartley has, it is said, followed as closely as was possible in the dramatic form the original Indian legends, which were gathered and translated by Walter MacClintock, a young American ethnologist who has made a specialty of Indian folklore.

Mr. Nevin's score is based upon original Indian themes which he himself obtained at first hand from the Indians of the northwest. The work as an opera is, however, constructed upon the accepted lines of modern music drama.

The first production of "Poia" at the Berlin Opera House will occur next season, and a German translation of the libretto will be used.

EXTRA 12 INNING GAME Lowell Defeated by Fall River In a Great Game

Lowell and Fall River crossed bats in a double header at Spalding park this afternoon. There were over 1000 fans present when the first game started and there was a steady stream of tardy ones arriving while the game was in progress.

There was a new face in a Lowell uniform today, it being that of Mike O'Brien, the former Lowell player. He was located at his old place in the left garden and Mike got a good hand from his many admirers. McDewitt was given a rest and Fluharty was in charge of the right hand corner of the field. Huston was covering first base while Blanchard and Boyle formed the battery for the local aggregation.

When the Fall River players arrived on the field they were togged out with straw sombreros which they had purchased at one of the five and ten cent stores.

Prior to the game the busiest man on the field was a sign painter who was doing an artistic job on the centre field fence. He had just finished the

PRESIDENT TAFT Is Asked to Visit Many Cities

WASHINGTON, July 13.—President Taft continues daily to receive invitations to visit cities that were not included in the itinerary of his western and southern trip, announced several days ago.

The entire republican delegation from Missouri, headed by Representative Bartholdt, called at the White House today to bespeak the president's consideration of an invitation which will formally be extended next week to visit St. Louis. The Missouri delegation is particularly anxious that the president should be in St. Louis during the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of the city to be held Oct. 2 to 9.

The president has definitely decided to spend three days in the Yosemite valley, Rep. Needham of California talked with the president concerning this feature of the trip today and was requested by the president to make the necessary arrangements.

NOT GUILTY HAWKINS ACQUITTED ON CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 13.—Orlando Hawkins, a prominent Attleboro jeweler was found not guilty of manslaughter and discharged by Judge Gorham today in the sixth district court. The case was the outcome of an auto accident on North Main street at midnight on June 15 when James Martin was struck and instantly killed by Mr. Hawkins' auto. The car was operating the car himself and was hurrying a party of young people to the train to see a newly married couple off on their wedding tour.

ALPACA COATS JUDGE HARRIS ORDERS THEM FOR JURYMEN

BOSTON, July 13.—The first juror after sitting in the superior criminal court during the warm weather will wear Alpaca coats in order that they may be comfortable. Judge Harris ordered the coats this morning and when the jury filed in this afternoon each juror looked cool and comfortable in his Alpaca. Judge Harris paid for the coats out of the county treasury. If there is any demand for the coats he will pay for them himself.

THE CABINET Takes Up Matter Census Jobs

WASHINGTON, July 13.—President Taft discussed with his cabinet today the distribution of census patronage in the south. The senators of several of the southern states recently have consulted with the president on this subject and he has told them that in a broad way his policy will be to name enumerators and supervisors without regard to political affiliations, the desire being to get the best available men for these responsible and difficult positions. The president will insist, however, that the men recommended for these places by the southern senators shall in no sense of the word be active partisans. The president has told the senators that he does not wish political capital made of the appointments and if there is any attempt to this end he will change his policy forthwith. Republicans and Democrats will share alike in the appointments throughout the south. In such instance they will have to be men of standing in the community, however, and must justify their appointments by their own character.

Postmaster General Hitchcock likely will be consulted extensively in the filling of the census offices. Secretary Nagle of the department of commerce and labor under whose jurisdiction the census office operates also will carefully scrutinize the recommendations made by the southern senators.

FELL FROM STAGING Frank Garrison, living at 531 Merrimack street, fell from a staging while at work in the mills of the Boston Carpet Company today, and sustained injury to his side and right hand. He was removed in the ambulance to the Lowell hospital.

THOS. P. BOULGER Member of Police Board Till Successor Has Qualified

Acting under advice of counsel, Thomas P. Boulger called at the office of the board of police and declared himself a member of the board. Previous to his arrival there, Chairman Simon B. Harris received the following letter:

Lowell Mass., July 13, 1909.

To Simon B. Harris, Chairman and Secretary of the Board of Police of the City of Lowell.

As a member of the Board of Police I hereby notify you that you must take no action in any matters coming within the jurisdiction and powers of the Board of Police of The City of Lowell, and hold no meetings or conferences of the board without previously giving me notice thereof and allowing me sufficient time to attend. I am still a member of said board, and as at present advised shall not surrender my rights nor cease to perform my duties as such member.

Very truly yours,
Thomas P. Boulger,
Member of the Board of Police of the City of Lowell.

The statutes under which the board exists and from which it derives its powers provide that "members of said board shall hold their offices until their respective successors are appointed and qualified." After discharging the old board His Honor Mayor Brown, according to the communication to Hon. Charles S. Lilley, which appeared in this paper on Saturday, specifically named Mr. Lilley to be the successor of Mr. Thomas P. Boulger, and it would therefore, seem to follow that Mr. Boulger is entitled to hold his seat and to act until some successor is not only appointed, but qualified, and that means until he has actually taken the oath of office.

LIVELY INTERVIEW HELD

Chairman Harris told Mr. Boulger that he would refuse to recognize him as a member of the board, but that didn't faze Mr. Boulger. He insisted that he was still a member of the board and he intimated that he would be "Johnnie on the spot." He said he would attend the regular meeting of the board this evening.

After Mr. Boulger left the office of the police board, the chairman, Mr. Harris, went to the mayor's office and explained the condition of affairs to the chief magistrate. Later, in conversation with the city hall reporter for The Sun, the mayor said: "I have authorized Chairman Harris not to recognize Mr. Boulger. The mayor removed Mr. Boulger and the act was a legal one. The law supports the act."

"I asked the city solicitor for an opinion in the matter and he gave as his opinion that Mr. Boulger had been legally removed and had no claim to the office from which he had been removed. After receiving that opinion from the city solicitor I advised Chairman Harris not to recognize Mr. Boulger as a member of the police board."

"Was it a written or a verbal opinion that you had from the city solicitor?" queried the reporter.

"It doesn't make any difference, it was an opinion."

The reporter learned that it was a verbal and not a written opinion. The city solicitor maintains that Mr. Boulger was removed and having been removed cannot act as a hold-over.

"How about both parties, democrat and republican, being represented on the board?" asked the reporter.

"That's another question," said the city solicitor.

LUMBER SCHEDULE

To be Taken up by the Senate Conferees Today

WASHINGTON, July 13.—When the conferees on the tariff bill began work today it was with the knowledge that the amendments to the lumber schedule, over which a contest was certain, would be reached before adjournment. The house members were expected to make a strong fight for dollar lumber which was defeated in the senate.

Members of the senate committee on finance are preparing a statement replying to charges that senate amendments to the tariff bill will result in increasing the cost of woolen and cotton clothing, shoes and other articles of common wear, as well as other necessities of life.

The statement will show that the duty on shoes has been reduced and that the rates on cotton have not been increased.

There will follow a list of about 500, decreases in rates from the Dingley duties and a list of about 60 or 75 increases. An effort will be made to show that most of the latter are not in reality increases of rates, but that they provide for the collection of rates fixed by the Dingley law which had been set aside by misinterpretation of that law.

JAPANESE LABORERS

Were Placed Under Arrest by the Honolulu Police

HONOLULU, July 13.—Eighteen Japanese prisoners were brought from the Waimanalo plantation, 20 miles from here last night, and lodged in the city jail, where they probably will be charged with resisting an officer as a result of a riot that occurred at the plantation yesterday. Two hundred strikers were holding a meeting when the police left with their prisoners but a telephone message from County Sheriff Jarrett, late last night, said that everything was quiet in the plantation, and he did not expect further trouble.

Sheriff Jarrett, who found the situation threatening when he went to the plantation to suppress disorder, telephoned to Honolulu for assistance. As soon as the message was received a squad of mounted deputies under command of High Sheriff Doyle started for the plantation and four automobiles loaded with policemen armed with rifles followed them. On their arrival they found nearly 400 Japanese about the mill office but no attack had been made on Jarrett. The deputies and the police went through the crowd which offered no resistance and Jarrett, Jarrett's prisoner and 15 others were placed in automobiles and taken to Honolulu while Doyle, Jarrett and most of the deputies and policemen remained to guard the plantation and prevent any violence.

It is charged that there has been no lessening of the picket system since Judge Robinson issued his injunction restraining the strikers from interfering with laborers.

TRIAL RESUMED OF ACTION BROUGHT BY CHAS. H. KAVANAUGH

SARATOGA, N. Y., July 12.—The trial was resumed here today before Supreme Justice Van Kirk, of the action brought by Charles H. Kavanaugh, against the former directors of the Trust Company of the Republic for an accounting of funds alleged to have been lost to the stockholders of the company through investments made by its president, Daniel Leary Deane, in securities of the United States Shipbuilding Company. With the completion of the case of the plaintiff this afternoon the remainder of the week will be required by the defendants to present their evidence.

Henry W. Hayden of New York, who was a member of the law firm which acted as counsel for the trust company, denied that he had given his personal approval as counsel for the company to a resolution submitted to him by Mr. Deane and authorizing the latter to grant a subscription loan as president of the trust company.

BADLY SCARED

Passengers Thrown In-
to a Panic

NEW YORK, July 13.—One hundred and fifty passengers on the steamer Pegasus, returning from Coney Island at dusk last evening, had a bad scare down the bay when the vessel collided with a tugboat in the fog with a steamer anchored just outside the Narrows, compelling her to have been the German tank steamer Phoenix, which sailed from this port yesterday morning for Belgium.

The bow plates of the Pegasus were bent and a section of the port rail torn off. The passengers were panicky after the crash and the officers had some difficulty in quieting them. That the accident was not more serious was due to the fact that the Pegasus was proceeding at half speed when the other steamer was at anchor. No one was injured.

TWICE DIVORCED

WOMAN DECIDES TO MARRY ONCE MORE

CHICAGO, July 13.—Society in this city is little surprised by the announcement of the engagement of Mrs. Lottie Murray Hartmann, the former wife of Charles H. Swift, the millionaire packer. She was once a shining light in Chicago social life, and many lively incidents have marked her career. She was the daughter of a boarding house keeper on Michigan avenue, and society gasped with amazement when it was learned that she was engaged to Herbert Swift. It gasped again when the engagement was broken, and the young woman married Swift's brother, Charles.

She was divorced from Swift in 1903 on the grounds of cruelty, and married Arthur Hartmann, the famous violinist, in Berlin the following year. Her second marital experience did not prove any happier, and she obtained a divorce from Hartmann a short time ago.

DOCTOR IS SUED

at $25,000

BOSTON, July 13.—Gertrude A. Eisenhauer lies at her home, 15 Sawyer street, Dorchester, seriously ill, following the filing of a sensational breach-of-promise suit for $25,000 yesterday afternoon. In the Middlesex court, East Cambridge, against a prominent Back Bay physician, whose whereabouts last night were unknown, Dr. George Cutler, named in the suit, has not been in Boston for three days. The greatest secrecy is maintained at his two offices, 522 Tremont street and 18 Tremont street. At his uptown office last night it was said that no one there knew where he had gone or when he would return to Boston. Equal secrecy is maintained at the home of the girl in Dorchester, where the father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Eisenhauer, and Florence, the girl's sister, stay close by the bedside of 19-year-old Gertrude.

The family knew nothing of the engagement of the girl to the doctor. The first news came a few days ago, when the statement was made by Miss Eisenhauer that she had decided to bring suit against Dr. Cutler. Beyond the fact that Gertrude Eisenhauer was at one time in the employ of Dr. Cutler and that the romance was a secret one, arising from association in office work, the family would say little. The girl has been ill since February.

Classes for the study of the first epistle of St. John were started today.

THE ARCHBISHOP

Welcomed Delegates to Convention

BOSTON, July 13.—The formal opening of the Catholic Educational association's sixth annual convention took place today when a gathering made up of presidents and professors of the Catholic colleges of the country, clergymen and laity associated with educational work and a number of nuns and sisters attended mass at the cathedral of the Holy Cross. After mass a welcoming address was delivered by Archbishop O'Connell, opening the day's proceedings. After this service the delegates adjourned to Boston college where the business meeting was begun. The association consists of three distinct departments, the seminary, college and parochial school, each of which is subdivided into sections.

LOS ANGELES

HAS WATER SUPPLY FILTERED THROUGH GOLD

RANDBURG, Cal., July 13.—The water supply of Los Angeles from the filtered snows of Owens valley country will wind through strata of gold. Part of the aqueduct is found to be heavy with auriferous veins, and in a number of cases pockets of gold have been taken away. Some part of the construction works laborers actually fight for because of the chance of striking a pocket. From one stretch of the excavation, less than 12 feet long, samples of high grade ore were taken which, in some instances, show assays of $200. The aqueduct will literally cross a bed of placer gold and also go through lodes. All sorts of stories are to be heard along the aqueduct regarding gold finds, one being as to the luck of Patrick McCallum, a Los Angeles laborer, who cleaned up $1200. If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

50,000 ELKS

MADE THINGS LIVELY AT LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 13.—Fifty thousand Elks last night filled Los Angeles with music and noise. Among the last delegations to arrive were those from Washington, Detroit and Allegheny City. After a day's outing at Pasadena, the opening meeting of the reunion of the grand lodge was held last night in the auditorium, where speeches of welcome were delivered by Gov. Gillett and others. Grand Exalted Ruler Rush Holland responded. Today the grand lodge will elect officers.

6 O'CLOCK WILLIAM J. BRYAN

Wants United States Senators Elected by the People

LINCOLN, Neb., July 13.—William J. Bryan today addressed a letter to President Taft, asking him to allow the people to vote on popular election of senators. Mr. Bryan says:

President Taft: Now that the states are going to vote on the ratification of the amendment specifically authorizing an income tax, why not give them a chance to vote on an amendment providing for the election of United States senators by popular vote? In your speech of acceptance you said that you were personally inclined to favor such a change in the constitution. Would this not be an opportune time to present the subject to congress? Two constitutional amendments, one authorizing the income tax and the other providing for the popular election of senators, would make your administration memorable, and I pledge you whatever assistance I can render in securing the ratification of these amendments.

"Thanks for Ani-Sen Baby's Own Medicine"

Writes a Lowell mother. "I like it very much and will cheerfully recommend it. Baby is doing well." Ani-Sen is bringing us many grateful letters. It would be strange if so good a medicine did not do so. Mothers have been waiting for just such a medicine, which they can give their children with perfect confidence that it can only do good. It cures all baby's common ailments of stomach, liver or bowels, teething troubles, etc.

PLACE IN WEST Is Suggested for Aero- plane Flights

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Wilbur and Orville Wright accompanied by Lieut. Lahm of the signal corps, who is to be trained in the handling of their aeroplanes today inspected the country surrounding Washington in an effort to find a large clear field where the officers can be instructed with less danger than at Fort Meyer where trees and buildings render the place unsuitable for training quarters. The Wrights favor a place in the west which could be made a permanent training grounds. They also want a place which is more or less inaccessible to the public.

Mr. Wright said he would make a short flight late today providing weather conditions were favorable.

FUNERALS

WRIGHT—Private funeral services were held last night over the remains of Mrs. Hannah M. Wright at her late residence, 53 Lamb street, Rev. Frank G. Alger, pastor of the Pawtucket Congregational church, officiating. The body was sent to Chelsea, Vt., this morning for burial by Undertaker Albert H. Bixby.

ST. LOUIS—The funeral of Gilbert St. Louis took place yesterday morning from his home, 187 Perkins street, with funeral services at St. Jean Baptiste church. Rev. Fr. Ouellette, O. M. I., officiated. The bearers were Charles Paquin, Joseph Turner, Hector Payer and David Belanger. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, and Rev. Fr. Gratton, O. M. I., officiated at the grave. Undertaker Joseph Albert had charge.

PURCELL—The funeral of John M. Purcell took place Monday afternoon from the home of his parents, Michael and Sadie Purcell, 181 Concord street and was well attended. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery. Undertakers M. H. McDonough & Sons had charge.

MAGEE—All that was mortal of the late Mrs. Mary Magee was tenderly consigned to its final resting place in the Catholic cemetery this morning. The funeral took place from the home of Mrs. John Magee, 359 Lawrence street, at 9 o'clock and wended its way to St. Peter's church, where at 9:15 o'clock a high mass of requiem was celebrated by the Rev. John T. O'Brien. The choir sang the Gregorian mass. At the offertory Mr. P. E. Haggerty sang "O Salutaris," and after the elevation "Pie Jesu" was rendered by Mr. James E. Donnelly. As the body was being borne from the church "De Profundis" was rendered by the choir. Mrs. Josephine McKennedy presided at the organ and the choir was under the direction of Mr. P. P. Haggerty.

There was a profusion of beautiful and appropriate floral offerings, showing the esteem in which the deceased was held by her many friends and acquaintances, and among them were the following: large pillow of roses, pink, galax leaves, sweet peas and ferns with the inscription "At Rest" from the Magee family; standing cross and anchor on base of roses, pink, sweet peas and ferns inscribed "Mary" from the Atlas and Wampanoag clubs; spray of roses and pink, Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald. There were several other sprays from friends.

The pall bearers were Messrs. George E. Richards, John J. McDonald, Stephen McNaughton, Jeremiah F. Connor, George Mealey and James Shanley.

The funeral proceeded to the Catholic cemetery, burial being in the family lot, where the last sad rites of the Catholic church were read at the grave by the Rev. John T. O'Brien. The funeral was largely attended by relatives and friends, and was under the direction of Higgins Bros., undertakers.

CITY COUNCIL

Both Branches to Meet
Tonight

Both branches of the city council will meet this evening, the aldermen in special and the common council in regular session. The special meeting of the aldermen was called ostensibly to take action on the "White Way" proposition and incidentally to consider other questions, including the park in Little Canada, the Lighthouse park and other matters now pending before the city council.

STREET CARS BREAK DOWN

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 13.—The street cars in the Herald-Journal run from New York to Atlanta are broken down between Chattanooga and Knoxville. All efforts to get into communication with them here last night proved futile.

THE CRUISING FLEET

SMALL POINT HARBOR, Me., July 13.—Fog, thick and almost impenetrable, shrouded land and sea when the yachtsmen of the cruising fleet came on deck today and looked around for the chance of going farther to the eastward. With the cruise at a standstill, the social clubs became stronger than ever before, and there were gatherings during the forenoon on all the yachts while the gigs and launches darted back and forth with merry parties.

DEATHS

McCLARENCE—Mrs. Isabelle McClarence died yesterday at her home, 46 Howard street, at the age of 63 years and 5 months. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Whitte of this city.

IN POLICE COURT

Assault Case in Which Women Were Principals

A long drawn out assault and battery case interspersed with spicy testimony was heard before Judge Pickman in police court this morning. Marie Louise Masse, an attractive young woman, was the complainant while James LePage and his wife were the defendants. J. Joseph Hennessy appeared for the government.

The Masse woman testified that on July 5 while she was passing through Worthen street Mrs. LePage called her vile names and subsequently struck her in the face and broke her glasses. Then Mr. LePage broke to the assistance of his wife and struck the complainant. Several witnesses corroborated the testimony offered by the complainant.

Mrs. LePage acknowledged that she grappled with the complainant, but said that the latter was to blame because she called her vile names. LePage denied having anything to do with the assault.

The defendants were found guilty. LePage being fined $1, while his wife was ordered to pay a fine of $5.

Family Troubles

John W. Howard was before the court this morning charged with threatening his wife, Mrs. Howard, during the course of her testimony said that her husband came home Saturday night and threatened to kill her. He then went out and she locked the doors and windows and when he returned later in the night she refused to allow him to enter.

Howard denied that he used any

Broke Into a Store

Wm. J. Lawton, aged 17 years and 6 months, broke into the store of George Lynch in Marion street and stole a quantity of small goods and $4 in money. Lawton was arraigned in court this morning, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and larceny, and was held under $400 bonds for trial Friday morning.

Agreed to Marry

John Smith and Edward Denver were before the court, having been arrested on paternity warrants. Smith was also charged with two complaints of drunkenness and assault and battery. Both made arrangements to get married this afternoon.

SENATE HELD BRIEF SESSION

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The senate was in session twenty minutes today, adjourning at 12:20 until Friday. The major portion of the time of the sitting was devoted to a discussion of the unanimous consent agreement not to transact any business while the tariff conference was in progress.

The discussion arose over the effort on the part of Senator Carter to have a bill passed pertaining to the affairs of the district of Columbia on the ground that the bill was such a little one that no harm could result from its passage. But Senators Lodge and Culberson objected and thus prevented action.

The incident served to emphasize the understanding that no business will be permitted in the senate so long as the conferees are out and is a renewed assurance to the senators at the seashore that the interests of their constituents will not be impaired by their remaining away.

BLERCOT WON THE PRIZE

ORLEANS, France, July 13.—M. Blercot made a successful landing at Cheville today, having covered the 25 miles from Etampes in 56 minutes, 10 seconds, elapsed time. This includes a stop of 11 minutes near Toury to examine his aeroplane. The aviator came down at the feet of the official timers. His descent was rather brusque and the propeller of his machine sustained slight damage. His average altitude for the trip was 100 feet. As the time limit of the flight from Etampes was six hours, and as there was no ruling against him making a landing, Blercot wins the prize offered by the French Aero club.

THE FLOOD CONDITIONS

KANSAS CITY, July 13.—Flood conditions in this vicinity showed much improvement today. The Kansas and Missouri rivers have both been stationary since last night. Eastern train service improved at Kansas City today. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe opened its main line to Chicago this morning. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad sent a special to Chicago over its own lines and regular service probably will be resumed tonight.

Union depot officials today estimated that within the last six days there have been fully sixty thousand travelers held in Kansas City because of interrupted train service.

ROY MCGREGOR

Was Saved by a Bagpipe

DEDHAM, July 13.—Roy McGregor, in the historic play of the McGregor, was before Judge Hutchinson today for vagrancy. With him was a bagpipe, and he played to the court that he earned a living with it.

Although born in Scotland, and only on this side of the big pond three years, and, according to his story, in the United States but a few weeks, he showed his respect for the great republic by having a silk American flag borne from the top of a bagpipe and beneath it a Scotch flag.

Roy McGregor, what say you to the charge of vagrancy at Woburn? were the words of Clerk Clifford B. Sanborn.

Up spoke McGregor with the true McGregor spirit, "Not guilty." He emphasized his plea by extending his hand holding a bagpipe and saying, "I'm no vagrant. Your Honor, I have money to take care of myself."

SUPERIOR COURT

Indications Point to Large Fall Civil Docket

Next Jury Session Does Not Open Until October — Several New Actions of Tort Brought by Local Parties

In the October term of the superior court several new actions of tort will be listed in which local parties are the interested ones. There is no regular session of the court during the warm weather and the September docket is always a large one.

A session of the superior court for jury waived and court cases opens on the third Monday of September, but the jury sessions open in Lowell and Cambridge on the first Monday of October.

J. Joseph O'Connor of this city, who vies with his namesake of Boston and Wakefield, in the number of tort cases listed at the different sessions, has sent notice of a suit in the case of Julia Hurley vs. Lowell Machine shop in the sum of $10,000 to recover damages for the death of her husband, John J. Hurley, who was recently terribly mangled and fatally injured by a machine hammer while in the employ of the defendant company.

Notice of suit was sent out by Thomas O'Connor also in the case of Thomas Mooney vs. Lawrence Manufacturing company in the sum of $3000 for injuries received as the result of the breaking of a board on a staging upon which he was walking while employed as a hod carrier by the defendant company, the plaintiff being precipitated to the ground and badly injured.

Hannah P. McCarthy, one of the employees of the U. S. Cartridge company who was injured in the recent explosion, has retained Mr. O'Connor and notice of suit has been sent out, the ad damnum being $5000.

Mary E. Blanchard has brought suit against the Boston and Northern in the sum of $3000 for injuries received as the result of a collision in Westford street some time ago while she was a passenger on the car. Her husband, Alexander E. Blanchard, sued for $2000 for loss of services, etc. J. Joseph O'Connor appears for the plaintiffs in this case.

Last session's docket was one of the largest in a long while and the

SOLEMN REQUIEM

In Memory of Late Fr.
Ronan Today

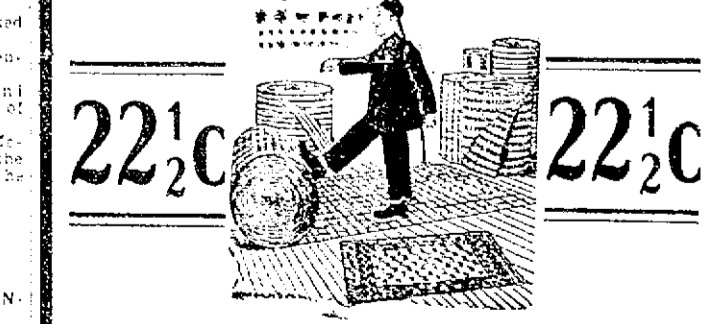

One of the staunchest friends of the A. O. H. in this city was the late Rev. Fr. Ronan, of St. Peter's church, and as chaplain of the Ladies' Auxiliary of that organization he was a factor in its success in this city.

This morning at 8 o'clock a large representation of the Ladies' Auxiliary as well as the members of the A. O. H. divisions and many of the congregation assembled at St. Peter's church to assist at a solemn high mass of requiem for the repose of the soul of the deceased priest, requested by the Ladies' auxiliary. The celebrant of the mass was Rev. W. G. Mullin, acting pastor, assisted by Rev. D. J. Heffernan, deacon; and Rev. John T. O'Brien, sub-deacon. The choir under the direction of Prof. Haggerty rendered the Gregorian chant and solos were given by James E. Donnelly and Prof. Haggerty. A month's mind mass will be sung later on.

THE BRAVE CHAUFFEUR.

When a reckless auto driver kills somebody he is criticized severely as he should be, but what of the auto driver who risks not only his own life but that of the other occupants of his car rather than run into some pedestrian or vehicle that comes suddenly in the way. There have been a great many cases in which chauffeurs turned aside so quickly to avoid hitting somebody in front that they were overturned often with fatal results. The chauffeurs are not all bad, not all reckless. Many of them thus risk their lives by turning out when they could not be blamed if they went straight ahead regardless of the consequences.

NEED OF PUBLIC BATHS FELT.

This is the kind of weather in which we feel the need of public baths. When we see what luxuries the people of Boston enjoy in this respect, we have reason to ask that the city do something in the line of public baths. We are not a sea shore town and cannot, therefore, provide salt water baths as in Boston; but if we make a good beginning within our resources nobody will complain.

In Boston there are free public baths for boys, men and women, and all combined are patronized in hot weather, it is estimated, by an average of 20,000 a day. This in addition to the large number who resort to general sea bathing at the various beaches indicates to what an extent the public health of Boston is promoted by public baths. The people have a right to be grateful to Josiah Quincy as he was the mayor who put into operation many of the public bath stations and the playgrounds for the benefit of the people.

THE NEW POLICE BOARD.

If we have a police board who are its members? There is a widely prevailing fallacy that when a man is elected or appointed to office, he thereby becomes a full fledged official, but such is not the case. A man may be elected or appointed a dozen times to as many different offices but he can never take his seat or be invested with the authority of the office to which he is chosen until he qualifies by taking the oath of office. We often hear of "inducting public officials to office"; sometimes the ceremonies are known as inauguration exercises. On such occasions the officials chosen qualify as required by law and are then vested with the prerogatives of the offices for which they are chosen. The same is true in regard to appointive officials, although the exercises may not be quite so formal or so public. There must be the act of qualifying before the official can exercise the slightest function of the office to which he has been appointed.

These remarks are suggested by the dilemma in which Mayor Brown finds himself in regard to his new police board, only a portion of which has qualified. The board in order to have a legal right to do business must first consist of three members who fulfill the requirements of the law, and second, they must qualify before they can legally transact any business.

When the law was made providing for representation of both the political parties on the police board, it left no room for evasion or equivocation. If any police board could be conceived to be legal without a democratic representative or without three members, as required by law, the act which makes these provisions could be nullified, a fact which proves quite conclusively that the two republicans who have qualified for the police board do not constitute a legal board. Hon. Charles S. Lilley is not yet a member of the police board and will not be until he shall have qualified by taking the oath of office and until he or somebody else qualifies as the third or democratic member of the board, we hold that Thomas P. Boulger whom Mr. Lilley is to succeed is still a member of the board.

STOP PARACHUTE JUMPING.

For some years past a number of professional aeronauts or balloonists have been in the habit of inducing venturesome youths to make parachute jumps at the risk of their lives.

Parachute jumping is always very dangerous, its success depending upon the perfection of the parachute, the height attained and the condition of the atmosphere.

The aeronauts themselves know the great danger and seldom make the attempt unless under the most favorable conditions. They break in some young man and convince him that it is perfectly safe. Then they make contracts to give parachute jumps, getting well paid for the exhibition, but they get some of their understudies to take the risks usually for a small amount. The result has been fatal in so many cases that the parachute exhibitions should be stopped or at least so restricted that no aeronaut will be permitted to engage a youth to give such an exhibition without the consent of the youth's parents, if alive, or his wife, if married.

The case of the Lowell boy killed at Portland, Me., on July 5, is fresh in the minds of Lowell people. That was a terrible affair, but it was not any worse than several others of a similar kind.

We happen to know of a sixteen-year-old boy who was injured to take the chances on a parachute jump and was almost killed so that he is crippled for life.

There should be a law covering this whole matter, and if parachute exhibitions are not to be stopped altogether there should be legal restrictions, first, to prevent an aeronaut from inducing a young man to take dangerous chances, and second, to prevent any young man from assuming risks that are almost suicidal. We have had too many exhibitions already and want no more of them. At Nashua yesterday the tragedy of Portland was nearly duplicated. How long will the public pay for being amused in a way that costs so many lives?

If the people do not want parachute jumps and refuse to witness them, then the whole matter would be regulated without any legislation; but the public is so universally feeble, variable, that some more reliable method of putting a stop to this murderous amusement must be adopted.

SEEN AND HEARD

The man who gives you a flabby handshake seldom has many enthusiastic friends.

Ask a pretty woman what she would rather have for a present, another picture to hang on the wall of her boudoir or another mirror, and she will say: "Another picture."

Never run to catch a train. It is a good deal of fun, though, to stand where the trains go out and watch other foolish people run.

A woman will forgive another woman for almost anything, excepting for being prettier than she is.

Smokeless powder is all right, but smokeless tobacco would make a great many women happier.

If poetic license cost something, as many other licenses do, a great many poets would have to go out of business, or else get along without it.

A girl ought never to accept boxes of gloves from a young man, if it is her intention to give him the mitten.

None of the books of etiquette tell the student of social forms what to do when he is dining in a restaurant and gets a mouthful of horseradish, which he has mistaken for potato.

When a man cracks his crazybone against the corner of his desk and suddenly remarks: "Jerusalem!" he often couldn't tell you whether the city is in Samaria or in Galilee.

The fellow who writes about Polly in the parlor, Molly in the hammock, Dolly in the auto and mother in the kitchen—mother doing all the work—need not expect to be popular with Polly, Molly and Dolly, or their "company."

Isn't there something lacking in the higher education when college boys as a rule habitually smoke cigarettes?

The man who has real genius seldom realizes it himself. He only thinks that other folks are stupid.

The first time a young man appears in public wearing a silk hat, he thinks that everybody in the world is looking at him.

Every salaried man knows how much easier it is to be an optimist Sunday or Monday than it is on Friday night.

Amateur performers seldom realize that encores are sometimes given just out of kindness.

TWILIGHT CROON

Twilight songs for you, my sweet!
Lullaby for you, my dear!
Peaceful rest for little feet!
Slumber croons for eyelids weary;
Hushaby, oh, hushaby!
As the church bells are ringing;
Lullaby, oh, lullaby!
See, the world is all at rest.

Dreams of love for you, my dear!
Magic visions so entrancing!
Mystic music on the ear,
Sets the fairy feet a-dancing!
Hushaby, oh, hushaby!
Snuggle down on mother's breast,
Lullaby, oh, lullaby!
For the Bygone Land in quest.

Rest, sweet rest, for you, dear one!
Yonder goes the night-bird winging!
And the summer day is done.
As the church bells are ringing;
Hushaby, oh, hushaby!
Sleep these, little one, oh sleep!
Lullaby, oh, lullaby!
Now the evening shadows creep!

and worked in the Normal Art school of Boston, graduating from there this season with high honors. Walter Sargent, for several years the director of art studies in Boston, having recently elected head of the art work in the Chicago institution, will have Miss Lovell as the concrete demonstrator of his lectures.

Miss Eva Tanguay has signed a contract with F. Ziegfeld, Jr. to play in "The Follies of 1909," on the New York Theatre roof. Mr. Ziegfeld says that he will pay Miss Tanguay the biggest salary ever given to one of his stars and the largest that has ever been given a star of a summer show. Miss Tanguay will make her first appearance with the "Follies" next Monday evening.

A cablegram to the New York Times gives this account of "His borrowed Plumes," by Mrs. George Cornwallis-West, formerly Lady Randolph Churchill. It was produced Tuesday evening at the Hicks theatre before an audience of great social brilliancy, which apparently accepted it without reservation as an original comedy of exceptional excellence. The cast was capable, including Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Dawson Millard, Henry Arner, Gertrude Kingston, Anne Hughes, Stella Patrick Campbell and others of adequate merit. There was an evasion to the author at the close, and summoned to the stage by general acclaim, she made several stiff, emmarassed bows and an awkward, embarrassed bow. The plot, Fabia Summer is a clever authoress married to an author less able than herself, but who is a V. C. and has a penchant for flirtation, and it is around one of his flirtations that the play centres. Mrs. Cranfield, the other party to the flirtation, gets possession of the manuscript of the wife's next book and imports to the husband the plot of that book as an idea of her own. He embodies it in a play, his chief oeuvre, which is accepted by the national theatre. He reads it to his wife, who by this time is very jealous, and she reappears in her character as a character. Finally Major Summer tires of Mrs. Cranfield, who on the night of the production of his play tells him the truth about it, and how she had stolen the ideas from his wife's book. There is a reconciliation between husband and wife in the ante room of the royal box of the theatre and going on the stage in response to cries for the author. Major Summer explains that the play, which has been given to the public as by an anonymous author, is the work of his wife.

The New York Daily Telegraph says that George M. Cohan celebrated his birthday on the Fourth of July by dictating a new musical play to a relay of stenographers. Between times he sat at the piano and composed the score, which clearly had been fixed in his mind. Cohan is in robust health. He has already delivered the score lyrics and libretto of "The Chorus Man" for Raymond Hitchcock.

MILITARY HONORS

Were Paid to Ensign Aiken

NAPLES, July 13.—The officers and men of the American warships in this port united yesterday afternoon in paying solemn military honors to the late Ensign Hugh Kerr Aiken, of the armored cruiser North Carolina, who died Sunday night, as the result of injuries sustained in an explosion on board the cruiser.

From an investigation which was instigated by Captain Marshall, it was learned that Ensign Aiken, Sunday, was camped an investigation as to whether gas was generated in the coal hold. Wishing to face the risk alone, he instructed the sailors to keep behind him. When he entered, he was not able to detect any odor of gas, and one of the men, who was carrying a lighted candle, came forward. Unfortunately, he slipped and his arm dropped, bringing the light in contact with the gas that was lying in a low level. Ensign Aiken received the full force of the explosion which followed. He was dragged out by the men but died some hours later.

Another accident occurred on the North Carolina yesterday, a sailor named Hechen being struck by a crane while loading coal. Two ribs were broken and the sailor is reported to be in a dangerous condition.

Later developments in the explosion on board the North Carolina indicate that the accident was of a grave nature, and the officers of the cruiser agreed to admit. Corporal Maloney was also badly injured in the explosion, it being stated that he was completely blinded in both eyes. Several other men who accompanied Ensign Aiken also were wounded, but less seriously.

An enormous quantity of gas had been generated by the 300 tons of coal in the hold and naval officers are at a loss to know why Aiken permitted a lighted candle to be taken into such a dangerous place. Immediately on the explosion, the sailors who followed the ensign sprang back, and managed in this way partially to save themselves.

An alarm was immediately given and the commanding officer, with a force of men stamped out the fire, which otherwise might have communicated to the powder magazines. Aiken was picked up in a pitiful condition. He was terribly burned about the whole body and head.

Carried at the end of Santa Lucia harbor, half a mile from the docks, the explosion passed unnoticed. Aiken was carried to the infirmary of the cruiser, and the accident only became known yesterday on his death. The body will be embalmed and shipped to New Orleans.

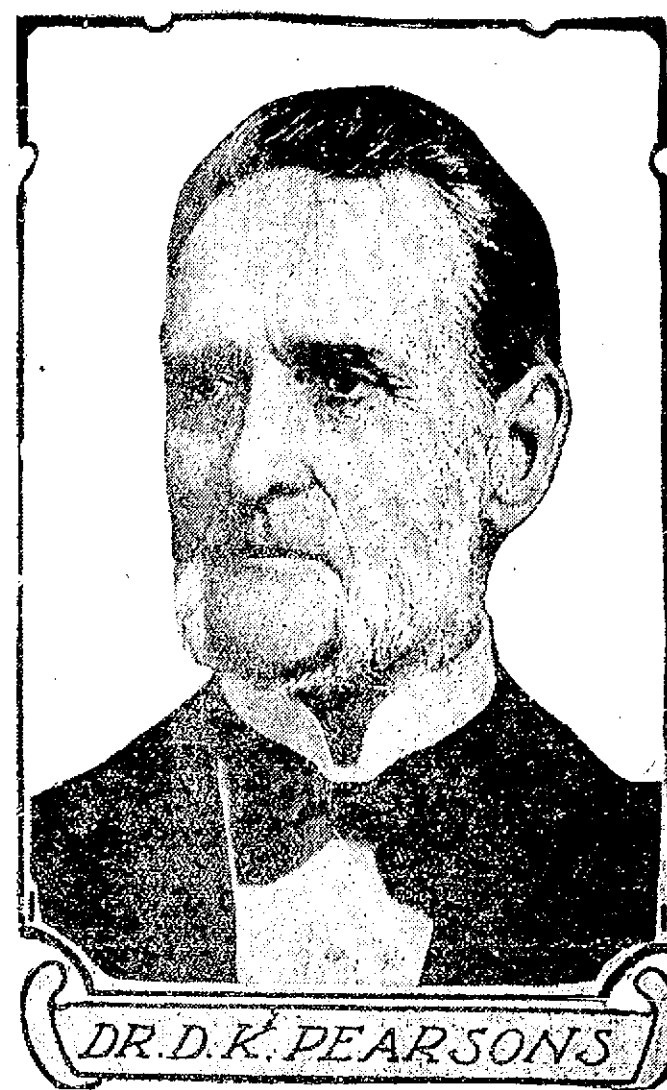

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

Gen. Adelbert Ames camp, U. S. W. V., held his regular meeting last night. Commander Sutherland in the chair. Four recruits were mustered in. It was voted to hold the annual outing on Aug. 8. Reports were read, and particularly interesting ones came from headquarters regarding the working of the button. It appears that some of those not entitled to wear the insignia of the organization are doing so, and the veterans plan to stop this at once.

PHILANTHROPIST WHO AT NINETY WILL GIVE AWAY HIS LAST MILLION

CHICAGO, July 13.—Dr. D. K. Pearsons of Chicago, who has announced that he will distribute his last million dollars among educational and philanthropic institutions in Chicago, before his next birthday, will be 90 years of age on April 14, 1910. He will retain enough of his fortune to support him until he dies. Dr. Pearsons has already given $1,000,000 to the smaller colleges of the country. Some of the gifts have been made under pledge of the colleges that the fact he had given money to his next birthday, will be 90 years of age on April 14, 1910. He will retain

THE AUTO RACE HAD AN OUTING

Plans for Advertising the Event

The heat had little effect on the enthusiasm of the members of the committee on publicity and advertising of the National Automobile Carnival which met at the board of trade rooms last night.

The members got right down to work and laid out a preliminary program which will tonight be presented to the governors of the Lowell Automobile club. Accompanying the plans will be a request for the appropriation of a large sum of money for the purpose of advertising the affair.

The members of the committee present last night were: Lewis E. MacBrayne, chairman; Secretary McKenna, Charles C. Lee, J. A. Hunnewell, Paul Thompson, Robert Thompson, L. A. Derby and James Malone.

The publicity committee is one of the most important committees of the carnival for it devotes on this body to spread the news of the coming races far and wide and attract hundreds of thousands of people to Lowell. A comprehensive scheme was discussed that will provide for a motor display at every station upon the Boston & Maine, Boston Elevated and Boston & Northern, displays on electric cars, bill boards, etc., throughout the country. Numerous special and attractive devices of advertising will also be brought into use.

The committee will hold meetings hereafter several times a week, and will have a regular publicity headquarters as soon as the new rooms of the Automobile club are ready for occupancy. All of the owners of automobiles in Lowell will later be asked to co-operate with the committee.

THEATRE VOYONS.

The management of the Theatre Voyons was much disappointed yesterday to have to announce that the Washington pictures would not be shown till next Monday. The blame of this lies entirely with the Boston branch of the manufacturers who failed to secure enough prints of the pictures to go around. A very good bill was presented, however, one that pleased everyone and as good as any of the past month. The feature pictures "The Japanese Invasion" and "The Bishop's Stratagem" both are new, and their stories are very interesting.

Not an imitation.

Interesting Items From Mill Centres

HARRISVILLE, R. I., July 13.—The William Tinkham Co., which operated the group of three mills in the village of Harrisville, has passed out of existence. The mills have resumed operations under the control of the United States Worsted Company, the Maine corporation which recently acquired the Tinkham property. Ernest W. Tinkham, who has been treasurer of the William Tinkham company, is acting as agent for the new owners for the present at the Harrisville mills. Mr. Tinkham is quoted as saying that there would be no change in the overseers or office help for the present at least. He also stated that the Harrisville mills would not be operated day and night, and that instead of the day and night schedule, 40 or more new looms would be added to the plant, bringing the total number up to 220.

NEW MACHINERY

HENRIETTA, N. C., July 13.—Several carloads of machinery have been received and it is being placed in No. 1 mill as rapidly as possible. This machinery consists mostly of pickers and cards and is taking the place of old machinery.

ADDITION TO CLEVELAND MILL

RAVENNA, O., July 13.—The Cleveland Worsted company, will at once build a $50,000 four-story addition to its Ravenna Redfern Mills, 225 feet long. This will give employment to 200 more men.

ENLARGING ELM MILL

TILTON, N. H., July 13.—The Elm Mills Woolen Co. are running the mill overtime, and have recently installed 20 Knowles looms and one set of Davis & Furber cards. This makes nine sets of cards and 52 looms. A new basement under the mill, 100x55 feet, has lately been completed and will be used for the finishing room.

MILL STOCKS QUIET

FALL RIVER, July 13.—The mill stock market was quiet last week and the number of transactions was small. Holders of stock were firm in their asking prices and in many instances the prices were secured. There is only one corporation in this city whose stock sells for less than par and the selling price for the shares is only a few dollars below par. All the mills in this city are in good physical as well as financial condition and all have good prospects. Very few corporations pay less than a 6 per cent dividend rate.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS

ARE HAVING A GREAT TIME AT NABNASSETT

The Y. M. C. A. boys at the camp at Nabnassett are having the time of their life. Friday was visiting day and in the evening a mock trial, which proved to be very entertaining, was held.

Those participating were: Judge Bert Cheney; clerk, Irving Gumb; sheriff, Alfred Whitaker; lawyer for prosecution, Irving Snyder; his witness, Louis Stager; and Smith, lawyer for defense, Mr. Williams; his witness, Worrall, Harvey, Flepings. Ice cream and cake were served.

The Y. M. C. A. boys again demonstrated to the West Chelmsford team that they could defeat them at baseball, the score being 12 to 1.

On from Lowell visited camp and had a swim. The baseball game ended in a dispute, the umpire not being satisfactory to the visitors.

On Thursday evening it will be visitors' day again and a minstrel show will probably be held.

LIGHT SENTENCE

FOR NEGRO WHO SUPPLIED MUSIC IN COURT ROOM

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 13.—When William Thomas, also known as "High-Liver," a negro charged with assault and battery, was taken before Charles E. Thompson, judge of the South city court in Kansas City, Kan., he pleaded guilty.

"Don't you think a year would be about right?" the judge asked the negro.

"Judge, talk reasonable," pleaded the negro.

"What do you think you deserve?" the judge asked.

"I could stand six months," the negro replied.

"Well," said the judge, "I am going to give you— and he hesitated, the negro drawing long breath. "60 days," the judge said. "I thank you from the bottom of my heart. I'll play you my favorite piece." In a moment the strains of "Home, Sweet Home," played on a mouth organ, floated through the court room, followed with "Turkey in the Straw" and "School Days."

When the last piece was finished, James Luscombe, prosecuting attorney, leaned over to Judge Thompson and said: "I believe 30 days is enough."

"Your sentence is 30 days," the judge said.

WASHED ASHORE

BODY IS THAT OF UNIDENTIFIED MAN

NAYATT, R. I., July 13.—The badly decomposed body of an unidentified man was washed ashore on the shores of Nayatt Point last night.

Found by a man named Waldron, who notified the medical examiner. There was nothing about the body except a bunch of keys that would tend to establish the identity. It was apparently that of a man about 55 years old. It is being held at the morgue in Warren awaiting identification.

DEATH WAS BLANK

Joseph Remillard Tells of His Odd Experience

WORCESTER, July 12.—"Honestly, mister, I can't tell you a thing about how it feels to be dead and then brought back to life again. It seems to me I wasn't there when it happened. All I remember is that I fell down unconscious the day I was taken to the hospital. After that I was out of my senses until a week ago yesterday. Then my brother showed me the papers and I saw that I was dead. That was a terrible mistake, wasn't it? I never was dead, I guess."

"I am so happy I am almost felled to death. The first thing I did was to thank the hospital people and then I went to my room at 16 Orange street. I found the landlady had packed my trunk and got all my goods ready for my folks to move out. She was sure I was dead. But I fooled her and I have put all my things back again."

Remillard's Story
The foregoing statement was made to a reporter yesterday by Joseph Remillard of 16 Orange street after he had walked from the Worcester City hospital, where he had been sent sixteen days before as a candidate for the morgue, having been pronounced dead by physicians.

Remillard, after straightening out his affairs at the boarding house, went to Mitchell's bakery, where he was pronounced by heat on June 26, and saw his employer, who assured him that his job is waiting for him when he wants to come back for it. He then visited some of the stores on Green street where he had small accounts and squared them all up, saying: "I want to make sure now that all my bills are paid, so if I get sick again I can rest easy and stand a chance of getting into heaven all right." Remillard intends to go to Fitchburg for a week's rest as a guest of his step-brother, Emil Robillard. There will be a family reunion and a dinner of thanks in celebration of his recovery will be one of the features.

Remillard, who is 46 years old, was prostrated by the heat while at work in the hakeshop and was taken to the hospital, where it was officially reported he died within a short time after his admission. The case was one of the most remarkable ever brought to the attention of local hospital physicians.

Remillard gave all the signs of dissolution from heat prostration, and his apparently dead body was placed on a truck to be taken to the morgue. Instead of taking him to the morgue the doctor in charge took him into the electrical apparatus room, where the physicians tried tests on him with electrical current. He was revived, and great care was taken to nurse the spark of life, until Remillard walked out yesterday, literally from the brink of the grave. There is no question that he would be a dead man if the body had been placed in the cold of the morgue.

AFTER 14 YEARS ATE TOAD STOOLS

Divorce is Granted to Six Persons Poisoned in Maine

WASHINGTON, July 13.—After working for 14 years to secure a divorce, Annie C. Hardesty, daughter of the late millionaire Dorist, John Cammack, who was practically disinherited by her father, and is now working as a government clerk in this city, under her maiden name, was granted an absolute divorce yesterday.

Mrs. Hardesty brought this suit for an absolute divorce September 15, 1895. In the meantime more than 26,000 equity cases have been filed and many of them disposed of. Divorces by the thousands have been granted while Mrs. Hardesty waited patiently for her release. She had almost lost hope when it was given her yesterday in a decree by Judge Barnard.

The couple were married in Baltimore Oct. 10, 1890. She alleged in her petition, which is now yellow with age, that her husband was a hard drinker. She said that nearly $18,000 of her money was spent by her husband during the first five years of their marriage, much of this going to satisfy his craving for drink.

For nine years Mrs. Hardesty has been working in the postoffice department as a clerk at $600 a year, and few of her friends knew she was the daughter of the late John Cammack, a millionaire.

Years ago, when she married Hardesty who was a blacksmith, her father disowned her. She was as proud as he, and never asked for anything out of the estate, although he put $50,000 in trust for her, the principal to revert to the estate at her death. The residue of the estate, amounting to about $3,000,000, was left to the second wife of Cammack, the stepmother of Miss Cammack, and to her half brother, Miss Cammack would not attempt to break the will which cut her off with an annuity.

THE CRICKETERS

Their Batting and Bowling Records

For the first time this season, Saturday saw a first class team of the Massachusetts state league leave the field and thereby forfeit the game to its opponents, Lynn Wanderers, in their game with Mohair at Lowell, refused to accept the decision against Robert Fairburn given by Alex Williams, one of the officials of the state league, and by refusing to continue the game, forfeited to the champions. It is unlikely that the case will be discussed by the state board further than a vote being taken to award the points to Mohair. Mohair now holds first place. Out of five games played to a finish, Mohair has taken the points in four, while two games have been won by the team by forfeit, Noddie failing to send an eleven for its first match, and the game won by forfeit Saturday. West India, by defeating Needham Saturday, still keeps the runner-up position.

MAJOR LEONARD

To Probe Tragedy at Annapolis

WASHINGTON, July 13.—A second inquiry is to be made into the death of Lieutenant James M. Sutton of the marine corps, who died of a gunshot wound at Annapolis in October, 1907.

At the time of the tragedy it was supposed that the young officer had committed suicide, and a coroner's jury military board so found, but Lieutenant Sutton's mother, who is a resident of Oregon, has demanded a further investigation. Commander John Hood, U. S. N., will head the board of inquiry, and Major Harry Leonard of the marine corps, a hero of the Tientsin campaign, will be judge advocate.

PRINT CLOTHS ORVILLE WRIGHT

Good Trading in Fall Made Fast Time in River Market

FALL RIVER, July 13.—There was good trading in the print cloth market last week and the total number of sales is estimated at about 300,000 pieces. Trading was rather quiet early in the week because manufacturers did not meet the terms of buyers and consequently business was held up. Later in the week prices advanced and trading became more free.

Soon after the holiday buyers came into the market and covered their needs through the remainder of the year. At first they suggested prices which did not meet with the approval of manufacturers, but later reconsidered and offered higher prices which were accepted by the mills. The buyers showed that they were extremely anxious to cover future needs and what little hitch there was over prices was soon put aside and trading began in earnest.

Wide goods advanced an eighth of a cent and narrow goods increased from a sixteenth to an eighth of a cent. These advances have induced manufacturers to meet the demand in part but they have not been eager sellers. Prices in the cotton market have been forced to such high figures that there is almost no buying here but manufacturers are taking these figures into consideration when there is talk of selling.

The cloth market for the last three days of the week was active particularly as regards bidding. The total of 300,000 pieces includes some lots of goods which were sold direct and also a large amount of 36-inch low count commonly known as tobacco cloth. The goods were sold mostly for December, January and February and made up fully half of the total sales. Other sales were made in most part for delivery before January. There was a lively demand for 27-inch, 64x60s, at 3 1/2 cents and only moderate sales were made. Manufacturers held out for a sixteenth of a cent better. The quotation of 24 cents in a sixteenth of a cent above the quotation of a few days ago but in view of the high price of cotton, the mills are holding for a better price. Contracts in wide goods have been in good demand and there have been fair sales with deliveries to run to the end of the year.

Peru has been advanced on these goods usually an eighth of a cent. There have been small sales of contracts in 35 1/2-inch, 64x64s, 5 1/2 yards to the pound, at 5 1/2 cents. The local brokers of M. C. D. Borden were in the market with their bids of 7-7-18 cents for narrow regulars but their offer of this price is a matter of form, regular being quoted at 3 1/2 cents, nominal. It was said that about 10 bales of narrow standards were sold for 3 1/2 cents but this sale of itself would not cause the quotation of 3 1/2 cents. The sales of 27-inch 64x64s, at 3 1/2 cents a yard on the basis of 3 1/2 cents for 23-inch, 64x64s, 7 yards to the pound.

There has been a good demand for war and filling satens and twills but buyers report their inability to obtain any in desirable quantity. Manufacturers of these makes are firm in their asking prices and they are just as insistent on full values as manufacturers of production and deliveries alike. It is said that spot sales amounted to about 50,000 pieces. There was no accumulation of stock and with the large sales ahead will almost certainly be none during the warm weather.

The week closed with the market strong indeed. The quotation was as follows: 23-inch, 64x60s, 3 1/2 cents; 27-inch, 64x60s, 3 1/2 cents bid; 27-inch, 64x64s, 3 1/2 cents; 35 1/2-inch, 64x64s, 5 1/2 cents; 35 1/2-inch, 64x64s, 5 1/2 cents; 35 1/2-inch, 64x64s, 5 1/2 cents; 35 1/2-inch, 64x64s, 5 1/2 cents; 35 1/2-inch, 64x64s, 5 1/2 cents.

VALUABLE PLANTS

NEW YORK, July 13.—Rhododendron plants valued at from $50,000 to $35,000 presented to the city by Mrs. Russell Sage and set out in Central park, have been stolen from their beds and yesterday James McKenney, a patrolman, and John N. James, a chauffeur, were arrested, charged with having carried the valuable plants away in an automobile. The Sage plants were a rare Belgian variety and covered a mile long. Their original value was $50,000.

RETURNS HOME

MINISTER HAD BEEN MISSING 20 YEARS

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., July 13.—After more than 20 years of adventure during which he wandered as far as Honolulu and supported himself at sign painting, the Rev. John Taggart, a Methodist minister, who was thought to have been drowned in the Johnston flood of 1859, returned to his home here yesterday. He found that his wife had married John Van Horn during his absence and has a seven year old son and 15 years old daughter, but that Van Horn is in Columbia county jail, serving a sentence for a statutory offense.

Mrs. Van Horn was overjoyed to see her former husband, and Taggart will take the family to another city. He gives the reason for his long absence, the "gossip of the townspeople and ill health."

GENERAL EDGERLY ILL

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Brigadier General Winfield S. Edgerly, recently in command at Fort Riley, Kan., is reported to be in ill health, and has been ordered to report for examination to determine his physical fitness for further active duty.

General Edgerly is from New Hampshire and was graduated from the United States military academy in June, 1870. During the Spanish war he served in the inspector general's department of the volunteer army.

Otherwise his entire military service has been in the cavalry branch. He was appointed a brigadier general in June, 1905.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Orville Wright last evening made a very successful flight in the Wright aeroplane at Fort Myer, Va., remaining in the air 5 minutes and 30 seconds, during which time the machine attained the exceptional speed of about 40 miles an hour. He circled the parade grounds half a dozen times, a total distance of about three and a half miles.

A strong breeze prevented the Wright brothers from starting the aeroplane immediately after it was brought from the shed at 5 p. m., and they calmly waited more favorable conditions before attempting to make a flight. They examined the machine carefully and chatted with prominent persons who had gone over from Washington to witness the trial.

With Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, the Wrights talked at length, explaining the workings of the machine. Others who congregated about the machine were Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, George Von L. Meyer, secretary of the navy; the Mexican ambassador, Francisco De La Hara, Senators Lodge, La Follette and Shively, Joseph Leiter, Congressman Russell, Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Huntington Wilson and Second Assistant Secretary Phillips.

Shortly after 7 o'clock the breeze died down sufficiently to permit a flight. Orville Wright mounted into the seat, and when the signal was given the machine shot forward instantly and mounted gracefully into the light breeze. Mr. Wright guided the flyer to the lower end of the large parade ground, and circled around toward the starting point, gradually rising higher.

Applause greeted him as he passed the starting point and sped away on the second round. Six times he rounded the curve, the machine making an average of about 40 miles an hour, according to the Wrights.

After passing the crowd the sixth time the aviator decided to make a landing because the motor was occasionally missing. He descended easily and landed with no apparent jar, the machine sliding smoothly over the ground until it came to a stop at a point near the shed.

Both of the Wrights expressed themselves as pleased with the performance. They intend to make only short flights until the new bearings have become worn down and the propelling motor is working perfectly. When these things have adjusted themselves to the satisfaction of the aviators, they intend to attack their main task, to which these minor flights are preliminary—that of satisfying the conditions prescribed by the government for the official test.

Child of Four Would Scratch Her Head for Hours—When Fifteen It Got Worse—Hair Came Off in Spots—Hundreds of Dollars Spent in Vain—Cuticura Soothed Like Cold Water on a Burn and

"When I was four years old a humor came out on my scalp, and it would make a thick scab in one night, itching and burning terribly. My father spent many hundreds of dollars trying to find a doctor who could cure this humor, but none of them could ever help it even a little bit. At the age of fifteen years I had the same trouble, and after that the sore became more and more, and I had to soak my hair out before I could comb it. My hair came off in spots and my head was in a bad shape."

About this time a friend of my father suggested he try Cuticura for me. My father took this advice and bought the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent. I used them faithfully and to my surprise they stopped the itching at once, like cold water to a burn. In a week my head was clean from the scab but was very red and inflamed, but I had experienced more relief from the terrible itching and burning than ever before. I did not expect to be cured, as I thought the scabbing could do that, but I had to use something all the time and Cuticura was cheaper than doctors.

"After some time, to my surprise, I awoke to the fact that my head was cured. It was as free from the disease as though I had never suffered. I am now forty-two and have never had any sign of my old trouble since I was cured. I owe health, happiness and life to Cuticura. Every one thought it was incurable. I used to dream sometimes that my hair would grow again, but I could be, but Cuticura made the dream come true. I never a child sitting up in bed until ten or eleven o'clock scratching her head. I couldn't help it either the itching was so terrible, night and day, and I was so miserable. I thought I had lost my mind, but I had not. I had Cuticura, and I have written to my old neighbors. HORSE RACING IN THE EAST ON ITS FEET AGAIN

By TOMMY CLARK.

HORSE racing in the east is coming back in great shape. Nearly every day since the opening of the season there has been increased attendance. The old time enthusiasm is again manifested, and horses are rooted in as of yore, and close finishes and able jockeyship are loudly applauded. Shortly after the passage of the Agnew-Hart anti-betting law one could almost hear a pin drop as a field of horses struggled down the stretch to the finish. Even the old cry of "They're off!" was rarely heard, and often a race would almost be over before the crowd was aware it had started. Surely the law against betting had put a damper on things in general, and it was freely predicted that another year would witness the passing of the thoroughbred in the east.

The change in conditions this season is hard to believe. Favorable decisions by all courts of law in New York have pulled the game out of the fire. It is no longer considered a crime to bet man to man fashion, and the horse public is gradually, if not any too quickly, becoming aware of the fact. The Eastern Jockey club officials consider the business of oral betting a private matter, but in the best interests of racing will not permit groups to gather on the lawns. But no restriction is placed on the old betting ring, and most probably they will drift back to their old places, but with the stools missing.

A prominent racing official in talking of betting recently said:

"If it is permissible to make oral bets in one place it is perfectly legal to make them in another. And a man is not guilty of a violation of the statutes because he chooses to stand under a roof in preference to some spot without a shelter. Of course no gambling paraphernalia will be permitted to be used in the shed."

The attendance at the Gravesend (N. Y.) track the day of the Brooklyn handicap was as near old times as the most ardent supporter of the game could desire under present conditions. The attendance represented fully $15,000, the largest since the anti-betting law was passed. The grand stand was so crowded that it was necessary for its occupants to stand on the seats to see the finish.

If any further argument is needed to convince one that the game is on its feet again the plans of the associations whose meetings are to be held later should be sufficient. Nearly every track is to have five day meetings instead of four, and at Saratoga, N. Y., there is to be racing six days of the week.

Big Leagues Prepare For Fight. War specks, and big ones at that, have appeared on the baseball horizon.

The conference of the National league magnates in Cincinnati recently, which was generally supposed to be a talk-fest on the status of President Harry C. Pulliam, turned out to be one of the most important war councils held in some years according to inside information handed out by one of the big men in baseball and one who generally knows what he is talking about.

This is the story: The National and American leagues are prepared to strike a deathblow at the Eastern league and American association should this class AA magnus mention war next fall. Since the class AA people refused to sign the joint agreement promulgated at Cincinnati last January, in which the big leagues handed out a number of concessions asked for by the two leading minor leagues, rumors have broken out that the American association will surely invade Chicago and that the two organizations have plans to organize a powerful independent organization as a rival to organized baseball.

To nip these plans the National and American leagues lost no time in getting together secretly and preparing for any war that minors may instigate. If the present controversy comes to the issue the plans of the big leagues will surely work a revolution in the baseball world as well as upset conditions in minor league circles. In fact, it is the biggest war move since the organization of the American league, as well as the famous Brotherhood squabble.

To squash any move of the disgruntled minors to become independent the big leagues have planned to increase their circuit to twelve cities. The plan is to take eight of the best cities, four in each of the Eastern league and American association. In the American association it is planned to pluck Indianapolis, Louisville, Kansas City and either Columbus or Toledo. From the Eastern league, Buffalo, Baltimore, Providence and either Newark or Jersey City will be taken.

From these eight cities which are to be taken the two major leagues will divide the spoils, each club adding two eastern and two western cities to their respective circuits. From past experience twelve club circuits have proved to be burdensome affairs, but in case of war such a course would operate in favor of the majors, while, on the other hand, it would seriously cripple the strength of the two discontented minor organizations.

Night Baseball.

If the plans of the men interested in having night baseball in Cincinnati materialize, fans all over the United States will have a chance to witness their favorite pastime after dinner. Several games have been played, and the men had no difficulty in fielding ground hits or fly balls. If the experiment is successful it will have radical if not revolutionary effect upon the future status of professional baseball and is bound in the nature of things to make baseball even more of a national game than now because of the possible enormous increase of patronage due to its accessibility to the tolling millions.

If the plans work, this is what we may expect to hear in the near future: "Have you got anything on tonight, Ben?"

"No."

"Well, let's go out to the ball game. So-and-so is going to pitch. The game doesn't begin until 8 o'clock."

"Will the game be over before midnight?"

"Sure. They're not playing a double header this evening. It'll be pretty chilly, but I guess we won't mind."

WHAT DOES THE ACTOR KNOW?

The art of acting is the one thing which this generation of actors seems to know the least about. They can act; they can sell; their social gifts are many and various. But the wildest press agent never seems called upon to inform the public that his client spends so many hours a day counting over Dorian or Genest or reading Sophocles or making the acquaintance of Shakspeare and Goethe. Ask the average actress who appears as Juliet whether she has ever read what Hazlitt, Leigh Hunt or Charles Lamb said about this young queen among tragedy characters and you will get a bewildered stare for an answer. Actresses will tell you they prefer to originate the characters from their own inner consciousness. They have never heard of Anne Desclée; they could not tell you a word about the Juliet episode in the life of Hector Berlioz. The theatrical papers they know by heart, but put them through an examination in the literary tendencies of their own day and they prove lamentably ignorant.

AN EXHIBITION AT STRATFORD.

There was recently held in Stratford-on-Avon a Shakspeare exhibition, the objects displayed being ancient domestic goods of the kind which would have filled the house of a Stratford mayor in the poet's time. There were in this collection objects said to throw light on some expressions and incidents in "The Taming of the Shrew," a play containing many allusions to the people and customs of sixteenth century Warwickshire. One of the articles illustrated Shakspeare's line, "And burn sweetwood to make the chamber sweet." It was a thing that looked like a pair of wafer irons, but was in reality a pair of bellows with a little chamber in the nozzle, into which "sweetwood" like sandal or fragrant herbs, could be inserted in company with a bit of live charcoal. On working the bellows a smoke of exceedingly good smell would be diffused in the room.

"I Care Not For the Shines That Star," Sings Nora Bayes In "Follies of 1909;" "The Motor Girl" Also a Hit

(From Our New York Dramatic Correspondent.)

TWO dashing new summer shows of attractive qualities, "The Follies of 1909," at the New York theater roof garden, and "The Motor Girl," at the Lyric theater, will, with "Havana," at the Casino, and "The Midnight Sons," at the Broadway, give New Yorkers a pleasing variety for the hot months, now in our midst.

"The Follies," the latest production of F. Zeigfeld, Jr., is a medley, a combination spice salad (whatever that is) of girls who glitter, gambol and gleam, with here and there a comedian or two of the opposite sex.

"I Care Not For the Shines That Star" sings Nora Bayes, who is a delight in the most prominent role. Miss Bayes sings several song numbers in entertaining fashion, as also does Lillian Lorraine, the airship girl.

The airship scene is a novelty. Miss Lorraine is suddenly seen to glide from a corner of the theater in a gayly bedecked imitation of the Wright aeroplane. However, her aero is attached to the sky, and the Wright brothers' affair isn't.

Probably the most amusing of the many scenes is a view of the East African jungle where ex-President Roosevelt is hunting. A corner of the forest primeval is shown where a badly frightened section gang of tigers, lions, giraffes, elephants, ostriches, monkeys, etc., is found hiding from "Bwana Tumbo." The fact that there are no tigers or ostriches in East Africa didn't bother the authors or stage manager. Kermit Roosevelt appears, crying for his papa, for he is lost in the jungle, being unable to find his way back to the hotel. Kermit grabs a lion in true Rooseveltian style, and after extracting its teeth he later hangs a target on its dining room and holds it up for his father to shoot.

One number—the finale of the first act—has dash and ginger in it. Girls representing every state in the Union, each wearing on her head a miniature battleship, dance on the stage to national airs. Then the house is darkened and the ships are illuminated with electricity against a background showing the tall buildings of New York. It is the prettiest picture of all the night.

Oscar Hammerstein is lampooned by seven different people in one scene—Oscar, the shining mark of all the summer show librettists.

"The Motor Girl."

The story of "The Motor Girl" doesn't matter. It is all about a motor girl who won a race disguised as a man. When her identity was discovered she was disqualified. She lost the race, but won a husband. Therefore there is a love affair—yes, two of them—and the principals act like real lovers.

Georgia Caine as Dorothy Dare, the motor girl, divided the starring honors with Elizabeth Brice, who played Louise, countess of Altenstein. These girls can sing. Moreover, they can act, and act naturally.

Miss Caine sang "The Motor Girl" song with style. She gave us "The Belle of the Dairy Lunch" with imitations of the "coffee and sinkers" girl, so familiar to quick lunch fiends, and she sang "Just Suppose You Love Me" with Martin Brown, who played Dick Wiloughby, her sweetheart, and sang them so well that the audience made the theater rock with applause.

Elizabeth Brice, a winsome little miss with a smiling face and a sweet voice, sang half a dozen selections, the best of which were "In Philadelphia" and "I'm Old Enough to Think." Adelaide Sharp contributed the feminine comedy. As Wilhelmina Lamm, a Dutch maid, she had the house in an uproar. Her German dialect was a scream.

Miss Sharp also sang well. James E. Cook and John Lorenz, as Bill Pusher and Robin Coyne, were the other funmakers. As escaped jail birds, who tried to conceal their prison stripes under heavy automobile buffalo robes while defying the hot weather, they provoked great mirth. One of the pair—which it was impossible to tell—did a comedy planologue and and the work is the first American composition of its kind that has ever been accepted by a court theater in Europe.

The story of the opera concerns a legendary character named Pola, who in order to win the love of a girl of his tribe made a hazardous journey to the home of the sun god and, because of his bravery and devotion, was chosen by the gods to be their prophet upon earth. The legend upon which the libretto is founded is really the Christ story of the Indians of the northwest. It differs from similar legends possessed by all races chiefly in the fact that human love is the inspirational factor that leads the hero to spiritual perfection.

All Characters Are Indians.

The action takes place at a period long before the arrival of white men in America, and the characters are all Indians and personages of Indian mythology. Mr. Hartley has, it is said, followed as closely as was possible in the dramatic form the original Indian legends, which were gathered and translated by Walter HaeClintock, a young American ethnologist who has made a specialty of Indian folklore.

Mr. Nevins' score is based upon original Indian themes which he himself obtained at first hand from the Indians of the northwest. The work as an opera is, however, constructed upon the accepted lines of modern music drama.

The first production of "Pola" at the Berlin Opera House will occur next season, and a German translation of the libretto will be used.
